NEW KONGMOON GOLD RUSH

Working a sluice box in the alluvial gold fields at Pak Lap Shek. Another scene of the recent gold rush which has already produced several thousand dollars worth of gold.

PROSPECTS GOOD

GEOLOGICAL FORMATION FAVOURABLE

RICH ALLUVIAL DEPOSITS

MINING ENGINEER'S OPINION OF FIELD

The districts of Yan Ping, Hoi Ping and Toy Shan, Kong Moon, which for many years have been known to be rich in minerals, have lately been the scene of an extensive gold rush.

The gold is distributed over a fairly large area, and, according to reports, exists in both alluvial and reef deposits. The Sunday Herald was yesterday informed by Mr. George Yip, a mining engineer who recently spent several weeks exploring the districts, that the geology of the country is very favourable to large deposits, not only of gold, but of other minerals such as iron, tin, wolfram, etc.

GEOLOGY OF COUNTRY
The geology of the country is largely a formation of a series of sediments of sand, limestone and shale, which at some period has been infiltrated with a mass of granite. A great number of fissure veins, composed mainly of quartz and wolfram, occur throughout the country. Around Norfu, in the Toy Shan District, both the formation of the soil and the presence of water favour hydraulic sluicing or, perhaps, even the installation of dredges.

FILM OFFICIAL STILL MISSING

Harbin, Yesterday. Bandits, using fog signals, to-day stopped a west bound freight train 18 miles east of Aishih and then subjected it to a fusillade of bullets, wounding the Russian engine driver and the Manchu fireman.

Notwithstanding his wounds, the driver successfully withdrew the train eastward to Erhientantze.

RED HORDE REPULSED TROOPS CLOSE ON RAIDERS

HUNANESE FORCES MASSING

Nanking, Yesterday.

With reference to the Communist incursion in south eastern Hunan, a message from Changsha states that the Hunan and Kwangtung provincial forces are closing in on the raiders.

The Red horde, under General Hsiao Keh, is apparently endeavouring to push westward towards the Kweichow border and is reported to have been repulsed at Linling.

Large forces of Hunanese troops are stated to be concentrated at Linling, Chihyang, Sintien, Pinghsien, Taohsien, Changning and Yunghsien ready to round up the marauders, while the Kwangtung authorities are moving their forces along two routes in the direction of Linwu.

Official circles are optimistic that the outlaws will be rounded up shortly.

COMMUNISTS RETREATING TO SZECHUEN KWANGTUNG TAKES PRECAUTIONS

DEFENCE INSPECTION

(From Our Own Correspondent) Canton, Yesterday.

Pressed by the Government troops, the Communists in Kiangsi and Fukien are said to be seeking a new field in Kweichow and Szechuen, which is more accessible to the Soviet Union.

The Reds in Southern Hunan appear to be moving westward in an effort to reach Kweichow, while Szechuen has been harassed by Communists for many years. In view of the increasing activities of the Reds in Szechuen, the Nanking authorities have asked General Liu Hsiang not to resign but to continue his anti-Red campaign.

CURBING INFLATION RUMOURS

BOND RE-FUNDING PLAN

SPECIAL TO SUNDAY HERALD. (By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received September 1, 11.21 a.m.)

Washington, Yesterday. The United States Treasury has announced that the U.S.$1,724,000,000 worth of securities falling due in September and October are refundable partly with other securities, instead of all cash.

The announcement is regarded as a step to head off the inflation rumours which have threatened to undermine the Government bond market following Mr. Henry Morgenthau's recent broadcast speech in which some intimated that his reference to the gold profits meant that the Treasury would issue currency against the profits to pay off the forthcoming indebtedness.

New Issue To Meet Maturing Bonds

Washington, Yesterday. Reports that the United States Government contemplates using the gold stock profit to redeem bonds is disproved by the Treasury announcement that U.S.$1,246,000,000 worth of 4½ per cent Liberty Bonds maturing on October 15, and also U.S.$225,000,000 worth of 1½ per cent certificates maturing on September 15 will be met by a new issue, the terms of which will be announced later.—Reuter.

Director Of Budget Resigns

"UNSYMPATHETIC VIEWS"

Washington, Yesterday. Mr. Louis Douglas, Director of the Budget, is reported to have resigned during his recent visit to President Roosevelt at Hyde Park, according to the Washington correspondent of the "New York Times," who declares that Mr. Douglas has, for some time, been unsympathetic with the major measures of the N.R.A. The correspondent anticipates that the resignation will be accepted.—Reuter.

STRIKE-BREAKERS IN BOSTON

Count the late Sir Thomas Lipton in as a member of the crew of the British Cup challenger, Endeavour. For it was the "never say die" spirit of the gallant Irish sportsman that prompted Mr. T. O. M. Sopwith (lower) to build the Endeavour and challenge for the America's Cup. Sir Thomas tried for 30 years without success. Mr. Sopwith, famed as an aeroplane designer, hopes to take the Cup to England after the races off Newport this month.

NANKING OFFICIAL IN HONG KONG

MYSTERY MOVEMENTS

(From Our Own Correspondent) Canton, Yesterday.

Considerable mystery surrounds the movement of Mr. Li Sheng-yik, adviser of the Ministry of Finance, who came south on an important mission. The Chinese papers to-day reported that he left Canton yesterday for Hong Kong en route to Nanking, while a sectional head of the Provincial Department of Finance denied that Mr. Li had ever come to Canton.

This treasury official issued a denial through all the local vernacular papers that Mr. Li Sheng-yik was in Canton or that he had attended any meeting of the Provincial Department of Finance. It is a fact, however, that Mr. Li did visit Canton and is now in Hong Kong.

U.S. To Negotiate With Brazil and Haiti

BREAKING TARIFF BARRIERS

SPECIAL TO SUNDAY HERALD. Washington, Yesterday.

The State Department has announced plans to negotiate trade agreements with Brazil and Haiti, similar to Cuba's in an effort to continue the breakdown of high tariff barriers via negotiation.

The Tariff Commission will hold hearings on October 22 in connection with Brazil and on October 15 in respect of Haiti. The announcement calls attention to the plight of Brazil's coffee trade.—United Press, per S. E. Levy and Company.

Federal Reserve Board's New Regulations

BROKERS IN PANIC

Washington, Yesterday.

The intention of the Federal Reserve Board to supervise with microscopic minuteness the marginal operations of brokers and stock traders is revealed by the preliminary draft of the regulations which provide for an extension of credit to traders of between 55 per cent and 75 per cent of the stock prices, making marginal requirements ranging from 25 per cent to 45 per cent.

These figures, however, are tentative, and may be made in fuller detail to cover the margins for various price groups.

FURTHER HIGH GOLD RECORDS EXPECTED

London, Yesterday.—Financial circles conjecture that Great Britain is allowing sterling to depreciate until it reaches its old parity with the dollar. SUGGESTION TO COMMITTEE BEFORE RESULT

DEFENDERS STATED TO BE EQUAL

BOTH SHOULD HAVE CHANCE SAYS MR. SOPWITH

SECOND SURPRISE

Newport, R.I., Yesterday.

Mr. T. O. M. Sopwith, owner of Endeavour, the challenger for the America's Cup, has made a second sporting gesture to his American yachting rivals, thus further increasing his ever-growing popularity.

It has now been disclosed that, prior to the selection of the Vanderbilt Syndicate's Rainbow as the defender of the Cup, he suggested that if the Selection Committee wished to pit the Boston-owned Yankee and Rainbow alternatively against Endeavour he would be quite willing to race under those conditions.

Mr. Sopwith further stated that he believed that both defenders were equal, and that both should be given an opportunity to defend the America's Cup.—Reuter.

Mr. Sopwith had previously surprised the American yachting world by taking his yacht to his rival's Herreshoff Yards for refitting. The Herreshoff Yards have built the defenders of the America's Cup for many years.

FIRST SURPRISE

Mr. Sopwith's action was contrary to all yachting tradition, and fairly staggered the Americans. Many yachtsmen still remember the days when anyone prowling round the yards of a Cup defender might well have been shot as a spy.

A result of this attitude was apparent when, a short time ago, the Endeavour's boom was copied on the Rainbow, another event unprecedented in the series of races.

TWO EAST LANCES MISSING

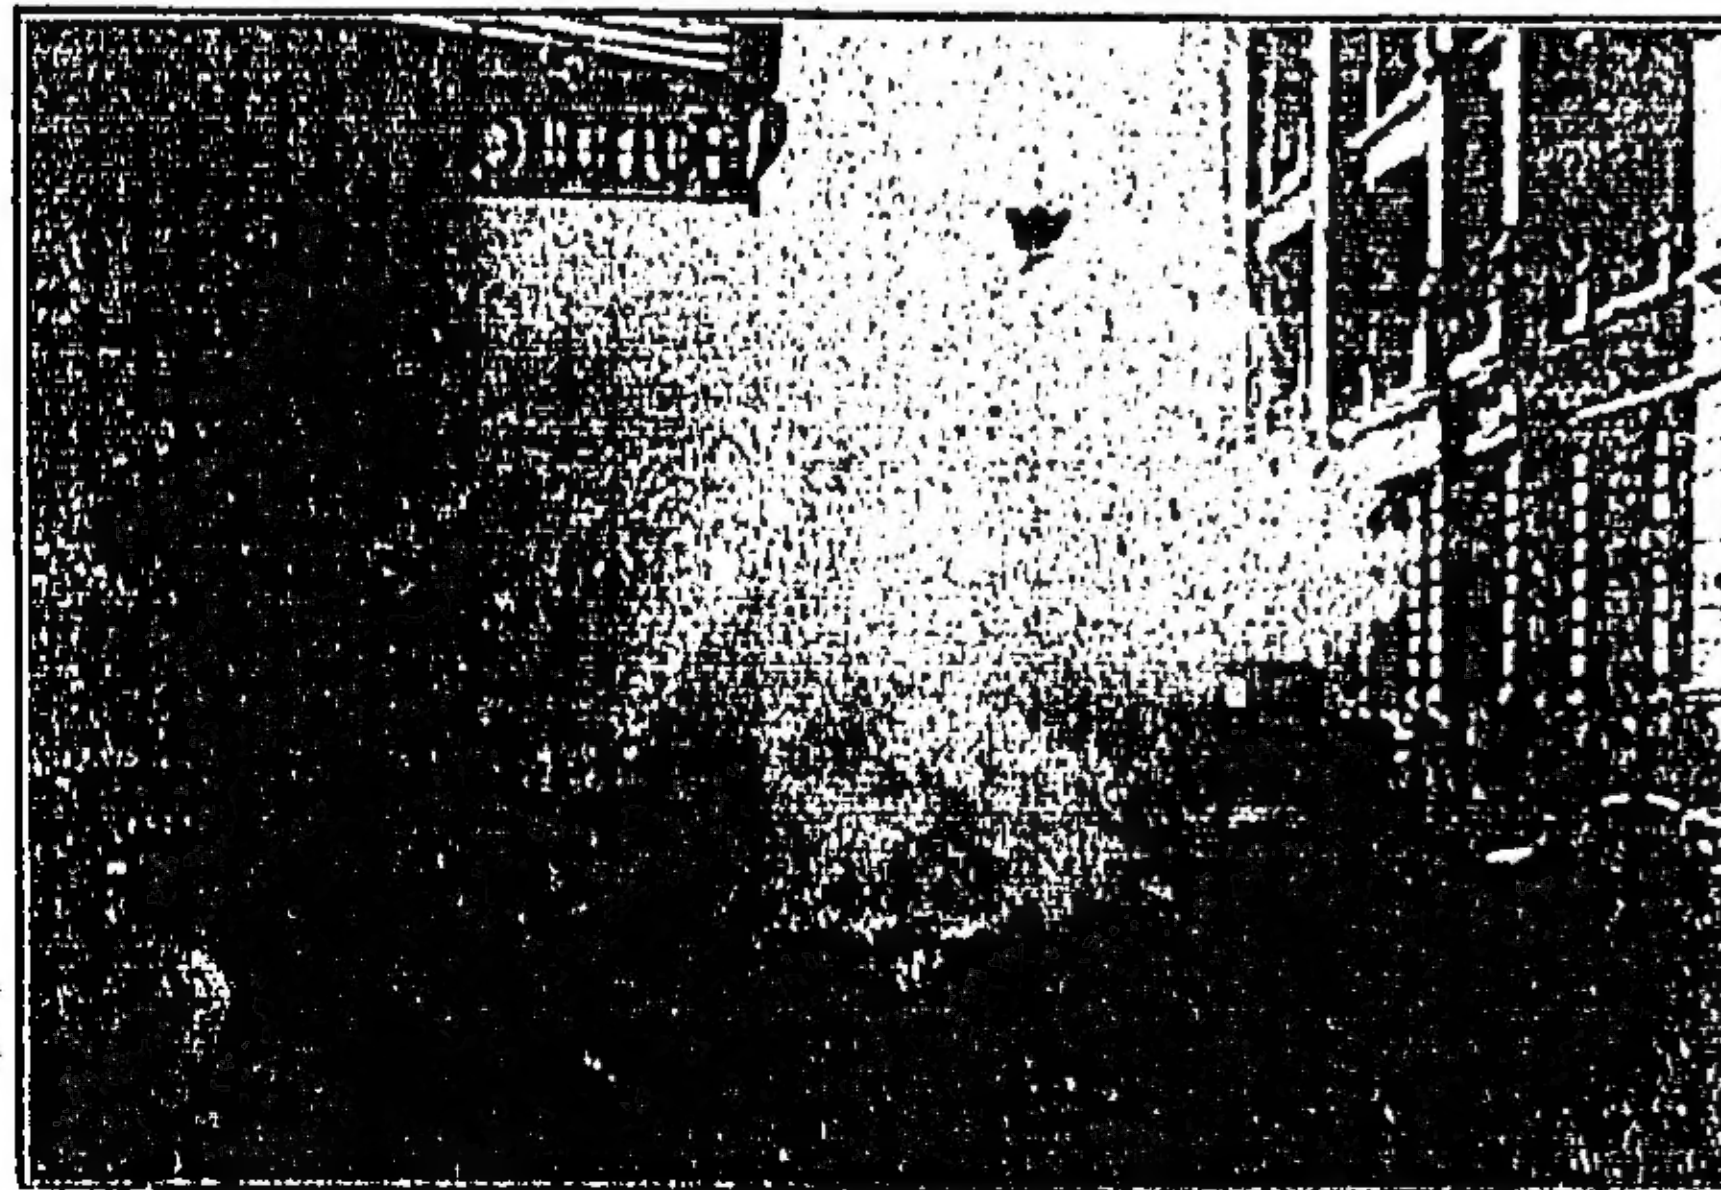

One Deserted Last Month

Two privates of the East Lancs Regiment were reported as being absent from barracks yesterday, afternoon when they failed to appear at 10 a.m. on Friday. They are Pte. K. Coles, who was reported missing last Saturday, but who turned up a few days later, and Pte. W. Leggett, who deserted in the middle of last month.

Descriptions of the men are:—

Pte. Coles, 23 years of age; about 5 ft. 8 ins. tall; brown hair and eyes; mould on right cheek. He was last seen wearing a canvas jacket and trousers, army boots, and a service cap.

Pte. Leggett, 21 years of age; about 5 ft. 8 ins. tall; fair hair and green eyes; sallow complexion. He was last seen wearing an army jacket, light boots, and his service cap.

This is no disastrous fire outside the Hotel Cecil, merely a cracker demonstration marking the inauguration of the Chinese Manufacturers' Union yesterday.—(King's Studio).

SHORT STORY.

LUM LO'S IDOL

By HENRY PETERSON

THE Yang-tze flood wiped out the whole family, except Lum Lo, and left the boy of eighteen with just the pair of blue cotton trousers he stood up in.

For three weeks he fought starvation on bark and slugs.

He was alive when relief came.

Government officials tramped over the oozy land, and he found himself the owner of seven paddy fields that could yield not a grain of rice for a year.

No grant came the way of the boy appealing with empty hands in just a pair of blue cotton trousers.

For many weary days the emaciated youth dug under the old home that no longer existed. His father had buried the family fortune there—perhaps a miserable five hundred dollars, wrung in half a life-time from the bitter hand-to-mouth struggle. He never found them, for the flood had carried away the top soil as well as everything that had stood on it.

So did Lum Lo become the owner of seven paddy fields. And to start cultivation he was forced to go to the town and borrow from a pawnbroker. And the bare minimum he borrowed would take three good years to pay back. If he had not been so timid and felt under so great an obligation to the pawnbroker he would have been able to pay back after two good years, for the pawnbroker would not have charged him a hundred per cent. interest.

Fate relented, and gave Lum Lo three good years. After paying off the capital and interest he could put aside a few dollars and buy everything for the next season's sowing.

Lum Lo was now twenty-one, and with the hope of better times, other thoughts came to him. Utterly alone in the world he thought of a wife—to share his labours, to comfort him and to bear him sons. Without a son the long line of ancestor worship would die with him. The spirits of his sacred ancestors would wander disconsolate in space, cut off from the sphere where they had been part of the Visible Universe.

Two good years would do it, only two good years. But Lum Lo was superstitious, even more so than his kind after the horrors of the flood had shown him that only the will of Heaven mattered, that terrible will carried out by the myriad spirits peopling the air. Three good years had already been his lot. Now he wanted another two. It was making a proud demand of Heaven.

His neighbour gave him advice. This neighbour of thirty had not only a wife, but three sons and two daughters.

"I was just as poor as you," said the neighbour, "so how did I get a wife? Come with me."

He took Lum Lo to a tiny hut at the back of the small farmhouse.

"That was how I got a wife," he said, "by praying to the right god."

Lum Lo stared at a wooden idol some three feet high, gaudily painted in blue and red, standing scowling with legs apart in a fighting attitude. Never had he seen anything so menacing, and he fell on his knees and kowtowed to it. The hot sweat lay chill on the body of the timid and superstitious young farmer, and he remained on his knees as though unable to get up.

"You must buy oil for a wick lamp. The flame must never go out. On the first day of every new moon you must burn joss sticks, at least twenty sticks. And every two months you give the god wine and roast pork. Of course, an extra lot on New Year's Day and at the Spring and Autumn Festivals."

"But this will cost many cash," Lum Lo said, with his heart sunk into his bowels.

"I was as poor as you. I made those sacrifices. That was how I got a wife. How can you expect a god to help you if you give him nothing? And I know what this god likes."

Lum Lo bent his forehead to the ground and mumbled a prayer before he dared ask the question in his mind.

"O Elder Brother, where can I buy a god like this one?"

"I will take you to the shop the next time we go to market. But have you four dollars?"

Lum Lo nodded slowly, with his heart sunk still further into his bowels. He had five dollars buried deep.

The young farmer did more than just buy the ferocious idol and its immediate requirements. He built a hut for it twice as big as his neighbour's. That was the least he could do to put the god in a good humour, the least he could do to get the wife he wanted so much.

So Lum Lo worked harder than ever to squeeze the last grain of rice out of his seven fields, so as to be able to put a little aside after appeasing a god with such expensive tastes.

As he toiled from dawn till dusk there were moments when his timid soul shuddered at the gamble he was taking. Three times now he had bought the wine and roast pork. The next morning they had gone. He had not so far mentioned the phenomenon to his neighbour. A phenomenon it was indeed to him. No stranger ever passed this out-of-the-way pocket of his land.

Moreover, had not the neighbour told him that no human being could put foot into another man's private sanctuary without being struck dead by the god within? Yet curiosity had stirred in him—to see how a god drank wine and ate roast pork. Did he dare creep round the next time and see? For many days Lum Lo thought it over. Then caution got the better of him, and he told his neighbour.

"Ah! my friend," the neighbour said, "things are going well. The god is pleased with your sacrifices. He only touches the offerings when he is pleased. You are luckier than I was. It was a full year before the god drank the wine and ate the roast pork. You will have a wife before you know where you are. But you must hurry things. From now on get the best wine and the best roast pork."

Lum Lo did as he was told, for the need of a wife was growing stronger in him. There were nights as the moon sailed serenely in the heavens softly caressing river, hills and trees when the tired peasant body knew only broken sleep.

Yet as he toiled on month after month, sacrificing good immediate cash for a future reward, his practical nature would revolt. His rationalistic, his utilitarian Chinese soul was hurt in these moments of doubt. But the very nearness of the ferocious god would tip the balance back on the side of faith, which was so closely allied to fear in the simple peasant. He still trembled every time he went into the hut every four days to fill the wick lamp.

He was now nearing the end of the first season, and the healthy green tufts of rice soothed his divided soul. When the crop was gathered and sold, he bought an extra lot of roast pork, and did not forget to present his kind neighbour with some.

Another such year, and he would have a wife.

But a blight came the next season, and Lum Lo had to dig up sixteen of the twenty dollars he had buried to prepare the fields for the following year. Lum Lo now went about his toil resentfully, and one day his neighbour scolded him.

"You have been mean to the god. I got mine from the same shop, and see what he did for me. Give him more pork and wine, and you will surely have a wife before you know where you are."

Month after month, as Lum Lo toiled from dawn till dusk, the bottle went on in him. Only the unconquerable determination of the Chinese peasant kept him going. His seven fields were tiered up a hill, one above the other. Water had to be carried up six hundred feet to the top one, bucket after bucket, all day long, week after week. By an ingenious damming system on each level, the water flowed down at the right rate to irrigate each field. It was labour that even a beast of burden might have jibbed at, but Lum Lo was fortified by the will bred of strong human desires.

Lum Lo now stayed longer in the hut every time he brought the wine and roast pork, praying longer and more fervently. And something else had stirred in the earthly soul. In a vague way he felt that if the god only knew how urgent was his desire, he would help more quickly. So Lum Lo stayed on these days after presenting the offering, and talked to the god, haltingly, with goose flesh on his skin.

Latest Lines In Evening Gowns

SOFT AND FEMINE IN DETAIL

IN case you should think that the tailored lines have it all their own way for evening, I must add that three of the most successful gowns shown at an advance display were all very soft and feminine in line and detail.

One was in brown lace so fine as to be almost cobwebby; it had a young and becoming "off-the-shoulder" line, and was supported by a narrow halter-strap of tiny pink rose buds. The back décolletage was deep, and the skirt was moulded to follow the knee, where fan-shaped godets gave a smart mermaid's tail effect.

Low Neck Lines

The second frock, of pale oyster-belted satin, adopted the new very low front neck-line, its deep "V" caught by a jewelled clip. Closely moulded at the waist and hip, the skirt flowed into a train which was lined and bordered with orange tulle. The third dress was greeted with a great deal of surprise and interest; it was made of printed crepe de chine in a design of bright green and primrose flowers as fresh as spring itself; round the neck went a quaint little green cape made in two separate sections of material fan-pleated and joined together by a little band.

Printed Satins

Flower printed satins and crepes are new arrivals that are certain of a welcome; they are likely to grow more and more popular as the spring changes to the summer. At present gay and brightly coloured printed are the smartest; later on pastel shades will undoubtedly have their turn.

PLUCKING EYEBROWS

SHOULD eye-brows be plucked the way the hair grows or against it? Eyebrows should always be plucked the way the hair grows. If the skin is stretched between the fingers, little or no discomfort will be noticed.

NAVY AND WHITE FOR THE BEACH

Rush Hat Influenced By Coolies

THE revived fashion for the nautical colour scheme of navy blue and white has been seen at functions of every kind this season. Women who have chosen these colours for important social events in town are now adopting them for the beach, as they find them both practical and becoming. Many of the beach ensembles this year are inspired by coolie modes. There is an Eastern air, for instance, about this large rush hat, bound with navy blue, and the loose fitting coat with its wide sleeves. This is in navy striped with white.

The swim suit worn underneath is in a knitted design, and is also in navy and white. The introduction of the broad white stripe is interesting, as it is used to give the slimming line that is so essential in all modern modes, from beach to evening wear. Incidentally, this zig-zag stripe is striking, particularly when repeated on the coat. Another point about this brassiere-top swim suit is its backlessness. The shoulder straps cross low at the waist, to enable the back to acquire an even sun tan.

A finishing touch is provided by the white sandals with their broad toe and heel straps. This ensemble achieves the air of trimness which all the smartest beach outfits possess this season.

down the back, and belt it trimly at the waist above an amusing little basque; you have the over-basque for the evening.

Has Long Skirt

With each of these blouses goes a long, slim, tailored skirt of satin; often a short tailored satin coat is added, producing that very smart new mode, the tailored suit for evening.

Such suits, restrained and even severe in cut, but rich in material, are worn for very smart restaurant dining, and are almost invariably accompanied by one of the new diadem hats.

LIPSTICK FOR BLONDES

SHOULD a fair-skinned woman have a dark or light lipstick? Some blondes look lovely with a really dark rich red lipstick, but only those with a perfect skin should attempt to wear this colour. Coral or tangerine for the others.

CARE OF CUTICLES

SHOULD cuticles be pushed back with the orange stick when manicuring? No. They should be gently lifted, and the orange stick, which has been dipped in cuticle cream, inserted underneath.

Feather Boas Again Popular

Sunshades To Complete Ascot Ensemble

COMPOSITE MATERIALS

London.

FEATHER boas have made their reappearance since the Duchess of York has been seen several times wearing one in public. On some occasions H.R.H. has worn a cream-shaded boa, while the other day she wore an exquisite white boa over her blue maroon dress. This had a draped neckline and a narrow belt fastened with a crystal clasp.

Sunshades are also fashionable. The Queen-always carries one, and they have been used a good deal to complete an Ascot or garden party ensemble. Mostly they are charming transparent affairs of lace, organdie and silk net, with many flutings and frills, and great variety in colour and design.

The handles are severely modern in type, usually plain sticks, painted or finely enamelled in the same shade as the fabric, though some are crook-shaped made of composite materials.

One attractive sunshade was made in black silk spotted net, while floral chiffons and crepe de Chine are also used for sunshades of the frilly variety.

WHY NAIL VARNISH CHIPS

WHY does nail varnish come off and chip?

Sometimes because an inferior quality varnish has been used. More often because the fingers have not been thoroughly washed after removing old varnish and because one coat instead of two has been used and a "finish" of transparent varnish omitted.

APPLYING CREAM ROUGE

SHOULD cream rouge be applied before or after the powder base?

It depends on the type of powder base used. If you use a heavy protective foundation, then rouge over. If a fine powder lotion, then blend in rouge first of all.

SUN-TAN POWDER

WHY are two shades of powder better than one when wearing a sun-tan make-up?

If quite a light creamy powder is used as an under-dusting round the chin and neck and on the nose, the sun-tan powder will not look too dark or become streaky on the face.

CABLE LINES

TRICOTS IN SHADED PIN STRIPES

EMBOSSED cable lines, either straight or wavy, show off on brilliant metal grounds in colours such as green, red and blue with black on a glistening black lacquer ground. This "glisten" beneath narrow matt black cord ribs is a departure from cellophane fabrics. Small embossed checks stress another novelty in all black.

A crinkly crepe that resembles bull-frog skin is individualistic. "Idosco" is a light, flat-surfaced woollen shot with twenty-five prismatic colours.

Tricots range in shaded pin stripes and plain colours, with small quilted "blisters" that may be shaded or not. The new leather mixtures also appear in striped as well as plain fabrics. Special weights woven for capes to wear with matching tweeds have a delicate mossy surface somewhat resembling the finest Turkish towelling, while harder yarns stress an unexpected invasion of the tapestry influence in dress and coat weaves for 1934-35.

MILLINGTON SWIMS WELL IN SCOUT MEET

Swifts Champions Of St. Andrew's Troop

LEE'S LACK OF INCHES COSTS HIM RACE

The Swifts won the Inter-Patrol Swimming Championship of the St. Andrew's Scout Troop at their first annual sports, which were held yesterday in the Y.M.C.A. bath. H. Millington was the outstanding individual swimmer, gaining two first places and one third place, besides being mainly responsible for the Swift's victory in the Inter-Patrol Relay.

The senior 50 Yards free style provided the closest finish of the afternoon. Millington (Swifts) securing the verdict by a touch from S. Lee (Kangaroo).

Millington took the lead from the start, but Lee quickly gained on him, and they turned together, only for Millington, who is by far the taller of the two, to take the lead again. Lee made a gallant effort to catch his opponent, but 10 yards from the finish Millington made a final spurt to secure a narrow win.

V. Gunson (Eagles) encountered no opposition in the junior 50 Yards breast-stroke, and won by a good 10 yards. The next three, however, figured in a thrilling duel for second place.

W. Hicks did very well in picking up all ten plates which were well spread out in water six feet deep.

The team race was one of the most interesting, the Swifts just snatching the victory in the last 10 yards through Millington. The Eagles gained a slight lead through H. Hicks and kept it till the last lap when G. Arnold was not strong enough to stage off Millington's challenge, and lost by two or three yards.

Full results were:

Diving—(50 points): 2. Kangaroo (60 1/2 points); 3. Swifts (50 points); 4. Lions (54 points).

The teams were:

Eagles—H. Hicks, V. Gunson, and G. Arnold.

Kangaroo—S. Lee, L. and V. Millington.

Swifts—E. Potter, H. Millington, and W. Hicks.

Lions—L. Gibson, R. Taylor, and J. Winyard.

FAREWELL FETE AT NORTH POINT

Chinese Athletic Honour Their Interporters

The third night fete organised by the Chinese Athletic Association this season is to be held at North Point, commencing at 8 p.m. on Wednesday.

The gala is in the nature of a farewell to Lau Po-hoi and Chan Shek-pui, two of their members who have been selected to represent Hong Kong in the forthcoming Interport.

There will be the usual list of interesting events for decision and a number of handsome prizes have been donated by Mrs. Tsai Ting-kai, Miss Woo Mok-lan and Mrs. Chang Kwong-nai.

Mak Wai Ming Redeems Defeat In 440 Yards Swim

A large crowd of spectators saw Chan Fuk-sing clock 6 mins. 14 secs. when he defeated Mak Wai-ming, the outstanding breast stroke swimmer, in the 440 metres at the Chinese Civil Servants' Club's third swimming gala of the season at the Club's bathing beach last evening.

Mak Wai-ming, however, convincingly won the 200 metres breast stroke, in 3 minutes, 18 seconds.

Owing to the strong wind and choppy sea, the event in which competitors had to swim with a lighted candle was cancelled.

The following were the results:—100 Metres relay—1. Chinese Athletic Club; 2. Chinese Civil Servants; 3. Chinese Bathing Club.

Time—1 min. 42.5 secs.

50 Metres breast-stroke (Children's)—1. Lai Sau-fan; 2. Lai Sau-yi; 3. Lau Fan-ho.

Six Contemplate Visit To Japan

TEAM DUE BACK SEPTEMBER 19

The Colony's Interport Swimming team of 14 stars will sail for Shanghai next Saturday night by the President Coolidge to take part in the Triangular Swimming contest against Shanghai and Tientsin.

The contest will be held at the French Pool, on September 13, 14 and 15. The team will return on September 19 by the President Jefferson.

The team consists of Lionel Roza-Pereira, W. Lawrence, A. A. da Roza, E. B. da Roza, T. Paget, E. M. Marques, W. T. Campbell, S. H. Wong, Kwok Chun-hang, Edward da Roza, Lau Po-hay, C. E. Roza-Pereira, Chan Shek-pui and W. Fullager.

Visit To Japan

Several members of the Colony's Interport team, including L. Roza-Pereira, W. Lawrence, E. M. Marques, E. B. da Roza, A. A. da Roza and T. Paget are contemplating a short visit to Kobe and Yokohama after the contest at Shanghai.

Kobe and Yokohama, it will be recalled, were invited to participate in the swimming contest, but were obliged to decline the offer.

Hong Kong won the contest in 1931 by a single point margin, and are present holders of the coveted Takart Cup.

INTERPORT POLO Hong Kong v Shanghai On October 3

The date for the Keswick Cup Interport Polo match between Hong Kong and Shanghai has now definitely been fixed for October 3 at Causeway Bay.

The Interport Polo trial, which unfortunately had to be abandoned during the first chukker on Monday, has not yet been replayed. A replay has been provisionally fixed for to-morrow evening. The team will be selected later.

ARMY BILLIARDS TITLE

Jarman Meets Green On Tuesday

The final of the Area Individual Billiards Championship 1934, will be played between Q.M.S. Jarman, 1st Bn. South Wales Borderers (Holder) and Sergeant Green, 1st Bn. Lincolnshire Regiment, at the Garrison Soldier's Club, on Tuesday next.

The match will be 500 up and will commence at 7.15 p.m.

FAREWELL GALA

POOR ENTRIES MAKE FETE NOT SUCCESSFUL

ROZA-PEREIRA HAS NO OPPOSITION

PAGET BEATEN BY ROZA

The special V.R.C. swimming gala held last night proved to be most disappointing.

The events for members of the Colony's Interport team, who were to be seen for the last time before their departure for Shanghai to take part in the Triangular Interport contest, were only partially supported. Two main attractions on the programme, the 100 Yards free style and the 440 Yards free style were abandoned.

In the later event, L. Roza-Pereira, the Colony's champion, sportingly swam against the clock, and paced by A. A. Roza and W. T. Campbell, who each swam half the distance, equalled his best time for this distance to date, 5 mins. 41 2/5 secs.

Kwok Chun-hang, the Colony's champion who broke the breast-stroke record for the 100 Yards breast-stroke, was an absentee, being indisposed, while W. Lawrence, who was expected to offer challenge to Roza-Pereira over the quarter-mile was advised to stand down owing to a slight cold.

The water-polo match lacked the full numbers and reserves had to be substituted from the ranks of the Club members.

ROZA'S REVENGE

Only one race for Interport candidates achieved success. In the 50 Yards free style, E. B. da Roza, the Colony champion, regained his lost laurels by beating T. Paget, who won in the Trials over this distance, in a very exciting race. His time, 26 1/5 seconds, was, however, still one-fifth below that established by Paget. W. Lawrence, Lau Po-hay and H. L. Ozerio also competed in this race, providing further excitement. Lau, the Colony, back stroke record holder, demonstrated his speed as a free style swimmer by taking third place to beat Lawrence.

Mrs. F. Mead, who, at the last Volunteer Gala, equalled the ladies' fastest time for 50 Yards, swam in the Ladies' race, but was beaten by Miss D. Hunt to whom she allowed 5 seconds.

The members' team race provided an exciting interlude, when J. A. Gutierrez team won after a close struggle against G. Lynn's team.

DIVER DISAPPEARS

Edward da Roza, the Colony diving champion, delighted the audience with a series of well executed fancy dives. After one dive, S. H. Wong an Interport candidate disappeared from view, leaving Roza to continue the exhibition.

C. Remedios, who won the Boys' race, was a very young swimmer, and received a hearty ovation as he finished the race.

THE WATER POLO MATCH

With only four of the Interport team in the Colony water polo side, the match against the "Rest" was hardly a representative one. R. Silva-Netto and S. Delgado, however, provided excellent substitutes in the full-back line, while W. T. Campbell shone in the centre-half position. A. A. Roza and C. E. Roza-Pereira showed good combination, but they were well held in the first half. W. Fullager, the new addition to the Interport team, showed good stamina in the centre-half line of the "Rest" and marked Roza to such effect that the latter failed to shine as in his wont.

C. E. Roza-Pereira scored the first goal on a pass from Campbell shortly after the start of the second half, and Campbell added the second goal after a brilliant solo effort near the close of play.

The "Rest" forwards seldom had an opportunity to test Chan Shek-pui, the Colony custodian who had no difficulty in making clean save from all shots.

Among the distinguished guests

Fred Perry, who is defending his American National Singles title at Forest Hills this week-end.

INDIANS VIRTUAL CHAMPIONS

POLICE LOSE "NEEDLE" GAME AT SOOKUNPOO

RECREIO "DOUBLE" OVER K.C.C.

RECORDING a smashing home win over Crai-gengower "B" by 91 shots to 39 yesterday, the Kowloon Bowling Green Club, senior Lawn Bowls league champions, not only secured the leadership in the championship race, but also established a new shots record for the season. The Colony record, however, is credited to the now defunct East Point Recreation Club, who, in 1928, chalked up 100 shots against the Recreio.

The previous record in the premier league this season was held by Crai-gengower "A" who scored 88 shots to Kowloon Docks' 49 on July 7. The Indians chalked up 90 shots against the Football Club on July 14 at the Valley. Last season the Civil Service beat Tai-koo by 87 to 47, while in the Junior Division both Crai-gengower and the Recreio beat the Indians by 90 to 41.

THE INDIANS, AS THE RESULT OF THEIR TRIUMPH OVER THE POLICE, THEIR NEAREST RIVALS, ARE NOW VIRTUALLY JUNIOR DIVISION CHAMPIONS. THEY ONLY REQUIRE ONE MORE WIN IN THREE GAMES.

In their staggering win of 34 shots to 9 over J. Cavanagh's Crai-gengower "B" rink, W. S. Drake's four (P. T. Farrell, J. S. Logan and J. G. Meyer) scored the only "7" shot of the day. Four skips, all of whom won their matches, scored "sixes." They were: W. Greig, A. R. Clark, K. M. Omar, and R. Hall.

COLONY BOWLERS' TRY-OUT TO-DAY

Meet Yangtzepoo In Debut Encounter

FIRST INTERPORT MATCH ON TUESDAY

The Hong Kong Interport Lawn Bowls team will have their final try-out in Shanghai to-day when they meet the Yangtzepoo Bowling Club at Wayside Park in a friendly match in order to get their eye in for the first of the Interport matches, which take place on the Police R. C. green, Hongkew Park, on Tuesday.

Tuesday's match will be the first of the three which will be played to decide the holder of the Prentice Cup for the coming year. The other matches will be played on Thursday and Saturday.

The match against Hankow will be played on Saturday next. With each team having eight wins in the Interport Bowls' contests to date, unusual interest is attached to the present Interport matches, as the winners will not only capture the Prentice Cup, but will take the lead in the series.

U. M. Omar, R. Bass, H. Beer, J. Watson, E. G. Post, and A. E. Conates comprise the Hong Kong VI.

INTERPORT CRICKET

15 PLAYERS WILLING TO GO TO SHANGHAI

Prospective XI To Play To-morrow

FINCHER ON INJURED LIST

Hong Kong is busy preparing for the Interport Cricket match against Shanghai in the northern port next month. Yesterday many prominent players were seen loosening up at the nets, while to-morrow the season will be officially opened with an Interport Trial. Up to yesterday afternoon 15 players had signified their desire to make the trip north if required. They are:—

*T. E. Pearce (H.K.C.C.).
*H. Owen Hughes (H.K.C.C.).
*E. J. R. Mitchell (H.K.C.C.).
*T. A. Pearce (H.K.C.C.).
*G. S. Dunkley (H.K.C.C.).
*G. R. M. Ricketts (H.K.C.C.).
*D. S. Harley (H.K.C.C.).
*H. W. Baines (H.K.C.C.).
*L. J. P. Williams (Army).
*A. H. Madar (I.R.C.).
*L. C. C. Garthwaite (Army).
*F. D. Pereira (I.R.C.).
*A. R. Minu (I.R.C.).
*I. McInnes (H.K.C.C.).
*C. S. M. Elvin (Army).

OLD INTERPORTERS

Trials will be held on every Saturday of this month on the Club ground, it is understood. The team will leave for Shanghai by the R.M.S. Empress of Asia on October 5, and return by the s.s. Comorin on October 19.

In the list of 15 players only Madar and Minu were members of Eric Mitchell's triumphant visiting eleven in May 1932.

To-morrow's Teams

The teams for to-morrow's game, which commences at 2 p.m. on the Club ground, are as follows:—

T. E. Pearce's XI—E. J. R. Mitchell (H.K.C.C.), L. J. P. Williams (Army), T. A. Pearce (H.K.C.C.), H. Owen Hughes (H.K.C.C.), A. H. Madar (I.R.C.), D. S. Harley (H.K.C.C.), G. R. M. Ricketts (H.K.C.C.), F. D. Pereira (I.R.C.), A. R. Minu (I.R.C.), and G. S. Dunkley (H.K.C.C.).

A. W. Hayward's XI—E. C. Fincher (K.C.C.), L. C. C. Garthwaite (Army), N. A. E. Mackay (K.C.C.), H. W. Baines (H.K.C.C.), P. H. Seones (H.K.C.C.), E. Bathurst (H.K.C.C.), G. A. Stewart (H.K.C.C.), F. Goodwin (K.C.C.), G. C. Burnett (K.C.C.) and C. S. M. Elvin (Army).

Pearce's eleven is undoubtedly the stronger team, looking suspiciously like the Interport side. Garthwaite and Elvin are both serious contenders, but a place for either in the rival team is going to prove extremely difficult. Harley is the only player who has yet to prove his worth to the side, but if he exercises a degree of discretion in choosing the ball to hit he should dispel all doubts.

McInnes is a notable absentee from the trial, as is E. F. Fincher, the K.C.C. no. 8 batsman who is still suffering from a injured heel sustained during a hockey game some twelve months ago.

SOLUTION OF

HAND No. 2 (Published in S. Herald Aug. 26th.)

This hand was one of a series set elsewhere some time ago. In that case the correct bidding, though on the shaded side, was adjudged to be as follows:—

Bidding.	E.	S.	V.	N.
	One Diamond.	Pass.	One Heart.	Pass.
	Two Clubs.	Pass.	Two N.T.	Pass.
	Three N.T.
1. S. King.	S. 2	S. 3	S. 4
2. S. 7	S. 6	S. 5	S. 10
3. S. 8	S. 9	S. 5	S. Ace
4. H. 5	H. King	H. 4	H. 3
5. H. Jack	H. 2	H. 7	H. Ace
6. H. Queen	D. 3	H. 9	H. 6
7. S. Queen	C. 3	D. 7	D. 6
8. D. 4	D. 9	D. 10	D. King
9. C. 7	C. 4	C. 2	H. 10

12. C. 9	C. Ace	C. King.	C. 6
13. C. Jack	D. Jack	D. Queen.	C. Queen

Result—West is one down.

At trick 7 South discards his seven of Diamonds in order to get that suit led. Otherwise E and W will make their contract, for if N then leads a Club (trick 8), W will put up Duminy's Ace, lead a small diamond to his King (trick 9), and make his two Hearts (tricks 10 and 11), leaving Duminy with Ace and Jack of Diamonds. At trick 11 South is squeezed, his only discard on the face of it being the King of Clubs.

No absolutely correct solution of the bidding and play was received.

Five competitors suggested

One D. — One H. —
Two C. — Three N.T. —

but each failed to see the necessity for the crucial Diamond discard by South at trick 7 which induces North to lead that suit at trick 8—the only means of defeating the contract.

These five are therefore awarded a bottle of Marchant's Gold Label Whisky each as a Consolation Prize:—

AMERICA'S CUP DEFENDER

Rainbow Selected
For Race

YANKEE LOSES BY SECOND IN FINAL TRIAL

Newport, R.I. Yesterday. The Vanderbilt Syndicate's Rainbow, three times conqueror of the Boston contender, Yankee, has been selected as the defender of America's Cup against the British challenge of Mr. T. O. M. Sopwith's Endeavour.

In the most thrilling race of the season the Rainbow beat the Yankee by one second in the final trial yesterday.

Yankee, with the weather berth, took a good lead at the start, but after 20 minutes her Genoa jib blew to tatters and the Rainbow passed her before her crew could set a new sail.

Setting a quadrilateral jib, Yankee soon drew level, but found the jib again troublesome, and, while she was changing it, the Rainbow drew ahead and led by 1 minute 35 seconds at the half-way mark of the 30-mile windward and leeward course. The Yankee, however, gained rapidly before the finish. Reuter.

THE TEST TEAM FOLLOWERS

6,000 Australian Visitors For England

Review Of "Invaders" Who Will Spend £4,000,000

(By TOM CLARKE)

London. TRAVEL authorities estimate that 6,000 Australians have come "home" this summer, many because of the Test matches, and that among them all they will spend quite £4,000,000.

The trip will cost some of them £2,000. One rich "follower" from Sydney who has come over with his wife and family expects to spend £8,000. His fares alone cost £1,500. Others—but not many—will do it with an outlay of as little as £250.

You see all types of these transplanted Britons in the Australian stand at the Tests, crowded as a microcosm of the new Australian nation. Let us go and study them.

Who is this?

One of the Whites of Beltraces. That means almost the history of their country to Australians. The founder went out in 1825. The fortunes of the family and of Beltraces, a celebrated sheep and cattle station in New South Wales, are inseparably linked with pastoral development. The station has 2,000 miles of sheep fence and a handsome private suspension bridge for sheep to cross the river. The Whites presented Britain with a £2,500 aeroplane during the war.

Australia lives on the sheep's back. One enterprising girl I see here is certainly doing so. She pressed her father to let her come to see the Test matches, and offered to take a consignment of wool and do a deal with it to pay her expenses.

Sydney Business Genius

Lauding yielded, to see what sort of a business woman she was. She and the wool arrived together; but she is still holding it because prices slump during the voyage. She is watching the wool market as closely as she is the cricket scores.

Somebody calls out, "Hallo, Jim Miller, is it—you?"

And Jim, big and rubicund, with twinkling eyes, confesses there is no mistake; that he is Jim Miller, of Sydney, and that he has brought the "missus" and two daughters to watch the boys recapture the Ashes and have a good time in England.

Mrs. E. A. Palmer is typical of busy Sydney, where she is the business genius behind the big store her late husband left her. She's as jolly as she is rich. Been "home" eight times, but couldn't miss this Test year. Has met Larwood—and likes him.

Mrs. Palmer has no up-country interests; doesn't like the bush; prefers Sydney and her motor-cruiser in the harbour. Thinks there should be more English films shown in Australia and fewer American.

Came over in the same ship as the cricketers, and is going back in the same ship. At Nottingham she secured a piece of turf from the wicket and has sent it back to her family. If Bradman makes a good "knock" she gives a champagne party to her friends. Her forebears are from Kent and Ulster.

Lawyers Strange Hobby

The quiet, upstanding man in the knickerbock hat and blue suit is not of the cities or the bush. He is "Gus" Vaughan, a lawyer from the country town of Cootamundra, in the New South Wales wheatlands. His hobby is to travel with the big cricketers. It may be Canada, South Africa, or England. He has been looking up the locality of his ancestors in the Isle of Wight, but the changes there have baffled him.

This quest for a homeland ancestral background is common among our visitors.

I have already written of Eileen Moore, the girl cricket fan from Queensland. There are others.

Here is Pat Naughton, also from Queensland; "mothers" her father's sheep and cattle station. She is swapping experiences with another girl from the bush who was at a game in the Isle of Wight, but the changes there have baffled him.

Pat didn't like it—she preferred the limitless plains, where she thinks nothing of hundreds of miles by jinker or bullock-wagon or horse or camel, or even at a pinch by aeroplane.

Between Test matches she is snatching visits to Germany and Scandinavia. Another type is her friend Joan Norris, from Melbourne—the town type of Australian girl, chic and of expanding personality. If she were English you would think of Hampstead or Surbiton.

These town girls of Australia are charming and challenging. They are men's women—feminine without being soft, robust without being loud. Joan is a D.Sc., and has already been to England eight times. Between the cricket matches she is doing a bit of quiet research in medicine before going on to do the same in America.

Many Sportsmen
In and out of the stand come many sportsmen. There goes Charlie Kellow. Used to be in bicycles; then motor-cars. Then he brought off many coups with the famous racehorse Heroic, for which he had paid £10,000.

There's one of the Leonards, another racing and sheep man. One of Melbourne's big races, "The Leonard Stakes," is named after a forebear.

Near him is Harry Creswick, race-horse owner and polo enthusiast who has brought his wife and daughter on this tour of the Old Country, and Tom Guest, one of the "biscuit kings" of Melbourne; and Sir Hugh Dennison, who owns newspapers in Sydney, as well as horses.

Here comes a typical Englishman, for a change. No; it is Dr. Roland Pope, really an Australian as they make 'em, but with an English urbanity acquired here as a medical student and accentuated by his eleven visits home.

I don't know his age. He is one of those cheerful philosophers whose life is not measured by years; but I do know that he was a member of the Australian side here in 1886, when the old Great Eastern Railway sent a saloon to meet the Australians at Tilbury, with special quarters for the wives, who were not then banned.

Now Dr. Pope travels with the team as honorary medical adviser, but much more as their guide, philosopher, and friend. He is a kindly man to all, yet with a keener sense of tradition than any Englishman.

PRIVATE LIFE OF PRINCE GEORGE DESCRIBED USUALLY AS "NICE BOY"

A CONSISTENT READER

(By PEGGY SCOTT)

H.R.H. Prince George, the youngest son of Their Majesties the King and Queen, has consolidated his popularity in the Empire and the world by his engagement to Princess Marina, daughter of Prince and Princess Nicholas of Greece. The following special article from Peggy Scott's talented pen reveals a little-known side of the Prince's life.

THE scene is the garden at Buckingham Palace.

One of the young Princes has just returned from a tour in the Midlands. He bows over the Queen's hand and kisses it, and then shakes her cheek. Before the King shakes hands with him he says sternly: "What is this I hear about your having kept the train waiting at N—? Do you not realize how many business men you were making late for their appointments? Don't let it occur again!"

This incident illustrates the discipline under which Prince George has been brought up, a discipline of which the late Sir Edward Wallington, then the Queen's Secretary, told me "the public has no idea."

It is this careful training, combined with his own good nature, that fits Prince George, the King's youngest son, to represent His Majesty on a tour to South Africa. When he stayed with a friend in Yorkshire recently he was asked if he would open a local bazaar. "I'll do anything you want," he replied, "I'll even plant a tree!"

Prince George began planting trees in 1910 when the King and Queen and their five sons and one daughter planted first on the same day in the Royal Avenue at Balmoral, and tree-planting to mark occasions has since been almost part of his life.

"A Nice Boy"

Prince George has the same charm as his brother, the Prince of Wales. He is described usually as "a nice boy." A motherly woman in Plymouth when he was a midshipman in the navy went a step further. "Oh! you—lovely boy!" she burst forth, after gazing at him for a few minutes. He is a good-looking and tall; full of good spirits and very friendly. Everybody likes him.

He was "P. G." or "George" to his shipmates when he was in the navy, and he asked no privileges—and got none! When he was "coaling ship" on board H. M. S. Temeraire, a fellow cadet took a snapshot of him, and "P. G." sent it to Princess Mary who, as a child, collected photographs of her family. The Royal Cadet wrote on it: "A life on the ocean wave!"

The boy, whose father owns several castles and palaces, slept in a hammock 'tween decks, turned out at 6.30 a.m., and kept all his personal belongings in a sea chest. He worked his way up from midshipman to lieutenant, and saw service with the Mediterranean and Atlantic Fleets, the China Squadron, and on the American and West Indies station. Occasionally, he was called upon to represent his father, the King, and temporarily became an important Royalty. Immediately afterward, he reverted to the junior naval officer. When visiting Kuling, he met two Chinese photographers bent on a "scoop," as he was climbing the mountain. They asked him if he had seen "the King of England coming up." The mischievous young Prince replied that he was following up behind—a rather heavy-set man on a sedan chair—and they got a beautiful picture of the ship's doctor!

When his first portrait was to be painted, the artist wanted him to be in naval uniform and cap, but "P. G." would have none of it. "My cap's too old anyway," he said.

To-day, he will start off for an air journey without a cap. For the portrait, he chose to be in morning dress, but every time he came for a sitting, he wore a different coloured shirt and tie! When he is at Balmoral, like the King and the other Princes, he wears the kilt. The villagers love to see their "bonny Prince" with his brothers, walking up the brae to Craithie Church on Sunday morning, and lining the high-backed purple velvet-covered pews. The King's Head-keeper in the kilt, like the rest of the Elders, takes the Royal collection.

Leading For Speed

As a boy, Prince George raced Princess Mary and his brothers on bicycles in the castle grounds; to-day he is racing a car with just as much zest. When he wants to go really fast, he takes the wheel from his chauffeur, for he would not put the responsibility on him, and off they go, at 80 miles an hour. Prince George is considered to be a fine driver, and he knows all about a car. He was once heard to remark that if he had the choice of a calling, it would be something to do with motorenars.

He likes flying, also, and was the first member of the Royal Family to follow the Prince of Wales in his flying career. Together they flew back from the south of France after their tour of South America in 1931 and landed at Windsor Great Park. It was a great responsibility for Captain Olley, the pilot of the Imperial Airways, and the Princes showed their appreciation by making him a handsome present in commemoration of their flight. He has often flown Prince George since, even in a fog. The Prince has no fear, although both he and the Prince of Wales are naturally cautious as to whom they fly with.

To say that he is interested in the different types of machines is not enough; he knows all about them. Both the Princes often go together to Hendon, where the Royal Air Force has its base. When they fly together, one or the other of the Princes sits in the the claims made are proved a fallacy? Would you buy that article a second time? While advertising is a powerful force in educating as to the uses, merits or money saving advantages of a product, the people are the judges when they make their first purchase. "Delivering the goods" is what they demand, and the scrap heap of failures is piled with goods that could not stand the test of public judgment. 'ASPRO' messages are carefully planned to prove what 'ASPRO' can do to alleviate pain and suffering, and the reason of its success throughout the civilised world is simple, because it fulfils all claims made for it. Its purity is its safety, and its quick action the healing service humanity appreciates. I have been suffering from Rheumatism and Rheumatoid Arthritis for 12 to 14 years. I have taken a course of your 'ASPRO' Tablets—three after each meal—and often, when in pain, have taken an extra dose before going to bed. I obtained very great relief from this treatment; in fact, I do not know how I could have continued to move about without 'ASPRO'. The pain has gradually improved, and now I find I need to take 'ASPRO' only occasionally. I can confidently recommend 'ASPRO' to all sufferers from rheumatism to all sufferers from rheumatism (Sgd.) HAMLET IN MODERN DRESS

THOSE who saw either of the last two productions of the Hong Kong University Arts Association,
Sheridan's "Rivals" and Oscar Wilde's "Importance of Being Earnest," will be glad to know that the University players intend to stage another play early in the autumn,
probably on Saturday, October 6.
The choice on this occasion is "Hamlet", and, by way of giving Hong Kong an opportunity to see the unusual once again, (the Wilde production was carried out entirely in black and white), Shakespeare's play will be staged in modern dress.
Mr. R. R. Campbell, who produced and acted in "The Importance of Being Earnest," will again undertake the duties of producer, while,
according to present arrangements,
Mr. Reginald Woolley and Miss Yvonne Langley, both of whom have proved their outstanding ability to Hong Kong audiences during the past two or three years, will play leading parts. That Mr. Woolley will undertake the onerous role of Hamlet is exactly as it should be, though it departs very widely from the type of part in which he has pleased his admirers hitherto. Those who know his versatility, however, are confident that his acting in the forthcoming production will compel the degree of praise to which he is by now accustomed.

In order that there may not be the alleged excuse for an audience of indifferent size, tickets for "Hamlet" will be priced at $2, $1 and 50 cents,
and the proceeds of the performance,
after meeting expenses and setting aside a small amount for future productions, will be divided equally between the Hong Kong Society for the Protection of Children, the St.
John Ambulance Brigade, and the Benevolent Society.

THE MODERN DRESS

THE idea of producing Hamlet in the costume of the Twentieth Century is not in any way to turn the Tragedy into a farce. The idea probably originated with the great producer of our day, Max Reinhardt; but it was carried out in London with great success, and ran for quite a number of weeks. The consensus of critical opinion was that while the famous speeches depended, as any stage play must, on the dramatic power of the performer, there was nothing in the unusual costume to detract from their effect; and in fact it was felt that the most famous "quotations" rather gained than lost. There could be no stronger proof that Shakespeare wrote in this play not for an age but for all time. With his extraordinary gift of expressing in words full of his own personality

IN SIX DAYS*PIONEER ACES DUE HERE TO-MORROW*TRANS-ASIA AIRWAY EXPECT VALUABLE CARGOES

(By Our Aviation Correspondent.)

THE attempt of the Deutsche Luft-Hansa Company to smash the record for a flight from Europe to Hong Kong is a very significant feature when considered in relation to the position of Hong Kong and the Far East generally, regarding aviation.

The Luft-Hansa Company are in a similar position regarding the Eurasia Airways, who, it will be remembered I mentioned a few weeks ago in connection with the proposed airway across the centre of Asia from Berlin to Shanghai, the Pan-American Airways are regarding the C.N.A.C., i.e., they run the airway, in which the controlling interest is held by the Chinese Government, thus providing them with immunity from the restrictions regarding flight over Chinese territories which have continually hampered British enterprise in this direction.

PURPOSE OF FLIGHT.

I understand that the flight which is in progress at present and which is expected to end here to-morrow, is more than likely in connection with the proposed Shanghai-Berlin line of Eurasia Airways. This is more or less borne out by the fact that the seven passengers in the plane include high officials of the Luft-Hansa Company.

The machine is a Junker J.U. 52, and is fitted with B.M.W. Hornet engines. This machine is made in two models, one has a single engine, while the other has three engines. Although no information has been received it is more likely than not to be one of the three-engine type. This machine has a cruising range of only 568 miles, and, for a flight of this nature, would have to be fitted with extra tanks, but, as it is designed to carry from 14 to 17 passengers, it is quite possible that, with only seven, the remaining space is being utilised for tanks.

SPEEDY MACHINE.

The machine is very fast, having a maximum speed of 177.5
m.p.h., and a cruising speed of 152
m.p.h.; it is therefore quite understandable that it will be capable of covering the distance from Dessar,
Germany, to Hongkong in six days.
The machine will probably fly some 1,500 miles a day on her trip.

VALUABLE TRADE.

When discussing the possibilities of the Eurasia Airways across Asia a few weeks ago I was somewhat pessimistic regarding the business they would pick up, particularly

FIVE YEARS AGO

[Extracts taken from the "Sunday Herald" of September 1, 1929.]

Messrs. G. Gunn, J. T. Lacey, H. L.
Lockhart, D. W. Phillips, and Charles Strange were successful in an examination in sanitary science as applied to buildings and public works.

A typhoon in the South China Sea caused "almost a gale" in the harbour, and river boats found difficulty in berthing.

Police efforts to suppress the distribution of seditious literature in the Chinese language were successful when two Chinese were arrested outside the Royal Naval Dockyard. Their method was to dress workmen and to mingle with the workers leaving the docks. The police, however, saw them and they were arrested.

Joan Smith and Bernard Bickford were among those who passed the Trinity College theory music examinations.

Maureen Booker, June Booker, and George McLeod received honours certificates from the Royal Drawing Society
(London). They were all attending Quarry Bay School.

The "Sunday Herald" in a leading article deplored the waste of the Colonial funds on the "still unsatisfactory" rescue tug "Kau Sing". The possibilities of selling the vessel, or of converting her from single to twin screw were discussed.

By stemming the triumphant progress of the Craigengower Cricket Club, between the two terminal ports. I could quite understand a large business between Shanghai and Europe direct, but little intermediate business.

I now understand, that the directors of the Company anticipate picking up quite a large amount of business, in the shape of valuable freight from Chinese Turkestan.
Throughout the mountainous districts of this isolated country there are rich gold mines and jade mines, and it is largely from carrying these precious commodities that the Company expect to obtain their intermediate business.

FLOATING AERODROME.
Among the activities of the Deutsche Luft-Hansa is the maintenance of what is perhaps the world's first floating aerodrome.
This is the s.s. Westfalen, which is stationed halfway between Africa and Brazil, and serves the machines of the Company on that run.

He served as Midshipman on board H.M.S. "Illustris" in the Mediterranean in 1901-1902, and in H.M.S. "Centurion" in China in 1903-1904. He then served as the Mediterranean in 1907, and on promotion to Lieutenant, served in H.M.S. "King Edward

Charles Beresford, from which ship he was appointed to H.M.S.

Gunnery Lieutenant.

In 1910, he served as Gunnery Officer of H.M.S. "Prince George" and subsequently of H.M.S. "Commonwealth," going through the "Agadir" incident. He was then selected as Gunnery Officer of the Staff of Admiral Sir Arthur Limpus, with the British Naval Mission to Turkey from 1912-1914.

In May 1914, he was sent home
by Djemal Pasha with 2,000 Turkish sailors to act as advisor to the Captains of the two Turkish battleships then completing at Barrow and Newcastle. On war breaking out, these ships—the
"Sultan Osman Birinji" and "Re-

the British Government and renamed "Agincourt" and "Erin," Commodore Elliott being appointed Gunnery Officer of the former.

IN BATTLE OF JUTLAND
After eight months of war, he was transferred to H.M.S. "Bon-bow," Flagship of Admiral Sir Doveton Sturdee, who had just returned from his victory at the Battle of the Falkland Islands, and in this ship he fought in the Battle of Jutland and took part in many sweeps down the North Sea.

summer of 1918, he was sent to

Our Lepers.

THE time seems to have come when it may fairly be expected that the question of the treatment of our Lepers should be raised for a full discussion in the Legislative Council, and that a responsible treatment of policy based on professional medical advice should be made. Excellent as M. K. Lo's address at the Sanitary Board was, it is unsatisfactory that it should be possible to shelve the subject on the ground that Leprosy is a medical and not a sanitary question. When legislation was placed on the Statute book twenty-four years ago the Government must have adopted an active policy. Why was it never carried out? In pressing for a full statement on the subject the motive is not idle inquisitiveness, nor is there any implied censure. There may have been good reasons for the change of policy; there is no good reason why we should not be taken into the Government's confidence on the matter.

It is easy to understand that in the war-years everybody had other things to think of; but that is rather an old story now. It is also easy to understand that new expenditure is never welcomed.
That is a question that will increasingly have to be faced in the next few years. All the indications are that we are in for a period of lower revenue and more or less stagnant trade, with the consequence that such sources of income as the sale of land will be practically dried up. Against that there is the rising dollar. But depression raises some larger questions of policy that have been very much debated elsewhere. The net result is that the general welfare is best protected by continuing normal work, even if it be necessary to raise loans to do it. A Colony that can borrow at three and a half percent or thereabouts has no need to make depression worse by hasty economies. The second conclusion that has been generally accepted is that it is false economy to refuse to spend money when the refusal will mean that more money will have to be spent in the future. If it be true that Leprosy and Tuberculosis are on the increase, the proper dealing with these subjects is a case in point. That argument leaves out of account altogether the fact that Government exists with the function of looking after the health of the people as one of its primary duties and purposes.

The abandonment of the policy of segregation may however, have been due to a decision that it would be a mistake. There is much to be said for that opinion; all we contend for is that the grounds on which it was adopted should be explained, so that some other and possibly better method may be given a trial. The Indian Medical Service has a great deal of garnered experience that it would be only too willing to place at the disposal of Hong Kong.
In South Africa too, where they have a very strict system of compulsory segregation there is a large school of younger medical authorities who consider that it has failed. Certainly there is no proof of good results on the total number of cases; the new registration seems to depend on the vigour of inspection more than on anything else. The root of the trouble, of course is that even the most generous expenditure on amusements and technical occupations and so on is quite incapable of atoning for the tedium of the long detention under an irksome restriction as to free locomotion.
The patient and the whole of his family enter into a conspiracy to conceal the tragic fact of infection, and the result is that the patient loses all chance of treatment during the early stages when cure might be possible. Moreover, although we do not know definitely how the infection spreads, it is significant that in the neighbourhood of the segregation hospitals where inspection has been especially vigilant for many years it is still found that the number of new cases is rather above than below the average of the rest of the community. It remains possible that the risk of commitment to such an institution might frighten off the newcomers. The one thing that is to be deprecated is that the whole troublesome problem should simply be buried because it is difficult. The leper is a sick man. He may be able for a long time to conceal his condition; but he has not the health needed to earn a decent living, and in one way or another he must either receive help and treatment or sink lower and lower into misery.

Free treatment would be a good solution; but here again it would be necessary to have a limit of qualifying residence, or the clinic would be avoided from fear of banishment. Why not try for suitable cases Kai Tam? Being an island with very restricted communications escape is practically impossible; and in any case the inmates seem to be happy and not to wish to escape.

HONG KONG AND THE NEW TERRITORIES. — No. 120.

An Evil Smell

Rather an attractive twining climber with delicate foliage is now in flower. Branched inflorescences are borne in the axilla of the leaves each bearing a number of small pale pink flowers with purple throat deeply marked with purple. The interesting feature is the peculiarly obnoxious smell of leaves and flowers. Paderia foetida is the appropriate name for this plant. Paderia is from the Latin, paedior, meaning a bad smell and this species is twice condemned for the specific name by no means implies a pleasant scent. It is a common plant in Hong Kong and, amongst other places, where we have noticed it in flower is on the bank immediately opposite the Helena May Institute.

The Phantom Orchid

There are a number of ground orchids in bloom now, including the Sulphur, Buttercup and Bamboo orchids all of which have been described recently in these notes. Another with pure white flowers is just coming into blossom. It is a widely distributed species but not as common as the three mentioned above. The scientific name is Habenaria nivea but it has been given the name of "Phantom" orchid because of the shape and colour of the individual flowers. A number of flowers, 4 to 17, are borne at the apex of the upright inflorescence, each in pure white and the three lobed lip is held out horizontally. A fanciful picture can be conjured up of a "pure white fairy, floating on her back with hands folded behind and forming a cup for her head, and wings and legs outstretched." This orchid can be found near Harlech road and in shady places on the lower levels. It is one of the few ground orchids that can be cultivated easily in a pot, a plant that we have had for some years has each September, in succession, produced a finer inflorescence than the previous year.

DESSAR TO HONG KONG IN SIX DAYS

The machines do not actually land on the Westfalen. The vessel draws behind it a large tarpaulin sheet which smooths the disturbed surface of the sea, enabling the machine to make a safe landing.

FUEL AND SERVICE.

The flying boats then taxi up behind the vessel and are hoisted on board by a large crane. After servicing and filling with fuel they are launched with a catapult. This "floating aerodrome" is only really an adapted tanker, and is nothing like the great floating platforms which visionaries expect to see in the future at intervals on every ocean, but it is a step in the right direction, and shows definitely the trend of thought and practice in other countries.

ENGLAND TO CANADA.

It is interesting to note, following my discussion last week on the possibility of a trans-Atlantic air-service, that information has been received from a London correspondent that the project is really closer to fruition than it had appeared. The scheme has now reached an advanced stage, and I am glad to say, through a British Company, Imperial Airways Limited, who, just over a month ago, received tenders from four leading designers for a fleet of flying boats for an air service to Canada.

It is proposed that the service should go via Iceland and Greenland or via Bermuda, or, perhaps by either route, according to the season.

TRANS-AMERICA ALSO

I am further informed that it is hoped to extend the service across the North American continent but this depends largely upon the measure of support received from the governments concerned.

The tenders already submitted are for a fleet of about 20 flying boats, multi-engined, and designed to accommodate from 30 to 50 passengers. At present, only estimates have been received as in no case have complete designs for the machine have been made.

This all shows the trend of modern commercial airways, and even in the view of the foreigner, Hong Kong is not to be passed by. If the foreigner considers this spot, how much more then should we keep in mind our own importance as an air port in this corner of the world.

The R. M. S. Empress of Russia is due here from Manila on Wednesday at 9 a.m., and will leave at noon on Friday for Shanghai.

MILITARY TATTOO PROGRESS

Programme And Prices Arranged

FILM REPRODUCTION OF SCENES DECIDED

A vast amount of work already has taken place behind the scenes of the Military Tattoo, which is to take place at Soukumpoo on November 1, 2, and 3.

The Committee are now able to announce that the prices will range from $10.00 to 50 cents, and that an elaborate programme will be drawn up, which will be on sale at $1.00. This programme, which will be entirely free from advertisements, will be a fitting souvenir of what is expected to be the most spectacular military tattoo ever seen in the Far East.

It is hoped that booking will be arranged through local firms, and arrangements are already in hand for communication by wireless with incoming vessels in order that passengers may book on board for the performances.

Car Parking

The matter of transport has received every consideration, and it is expected that special late trams and buses will be arranged to carry away the large crowds, anticipated.

A car park is to be arranged for the three nights of the performance, probably on the polo ground.

With regard to the actual programme, preliminary practice is being carried out individually by the various units who are to give displays, and initial rehearsals will take place on September 22 and October 5.

The executive committee will make periodical visits to the various units, for the purpose of inspecting the progress made.

Dress Rehearsals

When the programme is complete, dress rehearsals will be given which will probably be open to children from local schools. These rehearsals will take place in the daytime.

The actual performances will be given at night, commencing at 9.30 p.m. and finishing a few minutes after midnight.

Although nothing definite has been arranged, it is expected to have the Tattoo filmed, either by a local company, or by some outside producer.

doubts and reflections that all thinking men harbour at some time of their lives; and his freedom both from forced realism and from romantic perversion of life he compels us to learn the very useful lesson that men and women three hundred years ago were just as well able to form reasonable views of human destiny as we are to-day. Roughen our destinies as we may, we still find them shaped by something that does not become less compelling by being ignored.

CASUAL SHAKESPEARE

EVEN Charlie Chaplin has confessed to a friend that his one serious ambition in life is to go on the "legitimate" stage and play Hamlet. He would thereby add his name to a wonderful list of actors, beginning with the leading man of the "Globe" Company itself, Burbidge. Probably the greatest Hamlet of recent years was Sir John Forbes-Robertson; Irving was second; he never really succeeded in being anyone but himself. The reason for the universal desire, which will never be achieved, of presenting a perfect Hamlet, lies not merely in the virtues but in the faults of Shakespeare himself. He was an intensely practical man when he was not allowing his imagination to play around his subjects. He was engaged first as a subordinate member of a stock company which had, as was then the fashion, a large chest in which manuscript copies of plays were kept, to form a repertoire. From this he would take a discarded scenario and rewrite or invent speeches or dialogue for some actor or scene. He did not even take the trouble to make what we should call an acting edition. Each performer's part was written separately and handed to the actor. These interpolations soon became so popular with the company that there was jealousy if anyone was left out, and the new edition of the play grew by actual experiment of performance—a great advantage for stage effectiveness. The original Hamlet play was a melodrama of conspiracy ending with a fight and general slaughter, which survives in part in the final scene as we have it. Shakespeare's friends had a terrible job in piecing together the various "actor-scripts," and they wisely put in all they could find; even though they included scenes which belonged to different editions and were not meant to be acted at the same performance. Hence in selecting cuts, for the printed play is too long for the stage, actors long to select the speeches that suit their own conception of the character and reject the rest.

DEPRESSION ADVERSARY

LOCAL CHINESE INDUSTRY UNION INAUGURATED

NEW MARKETS TO BE SOUGHT

DUMPING FORCES ACTION

The oppression of Chinese merchants in Hong Kong by the dumping of goods in the Colony from "certain countries," and the tariff wall in China, is stressed in the manifesto of the Chinese Manufacturers' Union which was inaugurated in the presence of a large gathering of prominent Chinese business men at the Hotel Cecil, yesterday afternoon.

"In order to save ourselves at this critical moment and not down something for the future, the Chinese manufacturers in Hong Kong realised that they could do nothing but gather together to form a union and co-operate in finding an outlet for their products," the manifesto states.

The ceremony was performed by the Hon. Dr. B. H. Kotewall, C.M.G., LL.D. Among those present were: the Hon. Mr. T. N. Chau, and Messrs. W. J. Koswick, Li Yau-tsun, Li Yick-mul, Li Po-kwai, Ip Lan-chuen, Luk Kai-leung, Wong Su-hing, Cheng Siu-kwai, Tse Pak-cheung, Chan Yuen-sang, and Yuen Chau-hing.

Chairman's Speech

Mr. Ip Lan-chuen, the Chairman, said:—

"To-day marks the inauguration of our Union. We are very glad that Dr. Kotewall, our Hon. President, is so kind as to perform the ceremony, and of the presence of the Colony's many outstanding citizens and prominent merchants.

"During recent years the Chinese population in the Colony have established several hundred factories here, but there was no Manufacturers' Union or Association.

"Last summer the movement of reduction of import duties from the Chinese Government had been raised and, by the courtesy of the Chinese Chamber of Commerce, we formed our temporary headquarters there. Indeed, Mr. Wong Kwong-tin, chairman of the Chamber, has given us instructions and

SEPTEMBER OPENS WITH BUSY WEEK

Several Evening Entertainments

SWIMMING TAKES LARGE PLACE IN SPORTS PROGRAMME

A blend of summer and autumn activities will take place in the Colony this coming week. The presence of summer still being indicated by swimming activities, which continue to occupy a large place in the sporting programmes, while a growing number of whist drives and evening concerts indicates the approach of cooler evenings.

St. Andrew's Church will repeat their successful band concert in the grounds of the Church at 9 p.m. to-day, and those who appreciate a good military band are promised a varied and well-chosen programme.

To-morrow, being a Public Holiday, organised activities are not predominant in the day's programme. The Philharmonic Society, however, full of enthusiasm, have arranged a rehearsal for 5.30 p.m. in the Cathedral Hall, while Toc H. will hold their regular weekly social meeting from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m. at Lane Crawford's.

An interesting lecture in Home nursing and first aid will be given at the Women's International Club at 5.15 p.m.

In the sporting line the Interport Cricket trial will be the most popular event, while the 20th. Battery, Royal Artillery, will hold their annual aquatic meeting in the Y. M. C. A. bath.

On Tuesday afternoon the Ministering Children's League will provide a jolly afternoon for the kiddies at Repulse Bay. Lady Peel will be present at 6 p.m. to present the prizes. Another swimming gala will take place in the evening at the South China A. A. pavilion at North Point at 7 p.m.

A third swimming fete, organised by the Chinese Athletic Association, will be held at North Point at 8 p.m. on Wednesday in the nature of a farewell to the two Club members of the Hong Kong Interport team.

The Women's section of the Y. M. C. A. will hold an "At Home" on Wednesday evening while on Thursday afternoon a whist drive will be held at the Prison Officers' Mess.

Evening activities become more frequent towards the end of the week. A fandel dance will be held at St. Andrew's Club on Thursday, and on Friday a piano recital by Mr. Harold Scott will be given at the Helena May.

Among the many other sporting events next Saturday will be the Y. M. C. A. swimming gala, which commences at 9.30 p.m. There will also be the usual full programme of Lawn Bowls League matches on that day.

Sunday next will see the opening of the second half of the racing season with the Macao Jockey Club's Fourth Extra Race Meeting, while in the evening Mr. Harold Scott will again be heard on the piano, this time at the Peninsula Hotel.

JUMBLE SALE AT ST. ANDREW'S

$120 Collected For Mothers' Union

MARKED SUCCESS

The Jumble Sale, organised by the Mothers' Union and held at the St. Andrew's Church Hall yesterday afternoon was a marked success over $120 being collected. Within half an hour of opening the doors, the greater part of the clothing and material offered for sale was taken up by the large numbers who came from both Hong Kong and Kowloon.

Among the large stock which was laid out on tables around the Hall were some extremely attractive bargains, all of which had been presented to the parish by members of the Church congregation.

The proceeds from the sale will go towards the funds in preparation of the winter session work by the Mothers' Union.

Mrs. J. R. Higgs, wife of Rev. Higgs, the Vicar of St. Andrew's, presided, and those who assisted in the sale were Mrs. C. Elliot-Hoywood (Secretary), Mrs. Bliss, Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Potter, Mrs. Wright, Mrs. Warman, Mrs. Holt, Mrs. Matthews, Mrs. Whitmore, Mrs. Self, Mrs. Lee, Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Brewin.

Proof That Religion Is Not Dead

Christian Church Still Stands Firm

Answer To A Challenge

(By the Rev. J. N. Lewis Bryan.)

IN last week's article in these columns, we started to answer the challenge made by a certain individual in the Colony, who when asked (amongst others) what his opinion was with regard to Christianity, replied that it was dead and that personally he had no time for it. Most of the other printed replies were more or less of the same type.

In answer, I produced facts to prove that far from being dead, or even dying, it was very much alive, and that we could not afford to let it die. That Science to-day acknowledged the fact that behind the Universe there was a mind that could be nothing less than divine; that the text-book of Christianity, i.e. The Bible, is being sold at the rate of over a million copies every year; that the great products of Christianity—our hospitals and institutions for the relief of the aged and distressed are still carrying on their work.

In fact the only work of that kind that is being done in the centre of China in the depths of Uganda, and the other dark places of the earth, is being done by Christian missions, by the self-sacrifice and loyalty of men and women who are striving to carry out the last command of Him Who said, "Heal the sick, cleanse the leper, freely ye have received, freely give."

It may be, of course, that the answer that particular individual gave was based on the fact that the Churches of organised religions are not so full to-day, generally speaking, as they used to be. It may be due, partly, to the revolt against the dull dreary Sundays of the last one. We are living in a mechanical age, when means of transport are available such as our fathers never had, and people are able to get away for a change of air and scenery. In many places the Churches are empty, but on the other hand there are still plenty where, if you want to get in, you have to be there an hour before the service starts.

Supply And Demand

It is very often a question of supply and demand. It might just as reasonably be said that the cinema industry is dead, because there are plenty of empty seats at most performances. The amazing thing is not that the Churches are not full, but that anyone goes at all. What do they go for? To be told, in effect, that they are sinners. To be asked to give money to for poor, sick, and unfortunate people whom they have never seen, and who have no claim of blood relationship upon them.

MR. FRANK BRIANT PASSES AT 69

Mr. Briant, who served for 14 years in the Civil Service, had been a member of the Lambeth Board of Guardians for 27 years, 13 years of which period he was Chairman. He was Parliamentary Member for the division from 1918 to 1929 and was again returned in 1931, defeating the Labour candidate by a majority of 7,002 votes. He was also a member of the London County Council from 1905 to 1919, and a member of the last Council, in addition to being a member of the Lambeth Borough Council from its initiation until 1910. Among the public offices he held was the Chairmanship of the Old Age Pension Committee for London from 1914 to 1915, while he was also a member of the London Public Assistance Committee. For 46 years he was the Hon. Superintendent of the Alford House Institute for men and lads. During his long career of public service, he won 21 elections.

$2,500 FINE FOLLOWS OPIUM HAUL

A fine of $2,500, in default one year's hard labour, was imposed on Wong On, unemployed, by Mr. E. W. Hamilton at the Central Magistracy yesterday morning, for being in possession of 21 taels of prepared opium at the Tung On Wharf last Friday.

Revenue Officer A. W. Grimmit prosecuted.

To be sent away dissatisfied with all they are or have done, in comparison with all their Master was and did, to be reminded that they can and should do better than they have done. This ceaseless insistence that humanity is capable of better things; this unrelenting to higher thinking, nobler action, more unselfish living—this makes religion a great constructive power. Yet it lives from hand to mouth. Its missions, hospitals and colleges are a daily source of huge expense. Yet it lives by faith that has never failed, and because in each generation there comes along a body of unselfish people who respond to its call of sacrifice. Those who say that religion is dead speak with singularly little knowledge of history or the deep cravings of the human heart.

An Axiom of Life

He then goes on to say, "Personally I have no time for it." Then what is he, and those who think like him, doing, living under Christian influences, and in an atmosphere permeated by Christianity? His place is in the middle of Central Africa, or a couple of thousand miles down the Yangtze, where these things are yet unknown. They would be the last people to do that. They take all that religion can give them, in the way of the provision of learning, freedom of thought, security of person and property, unknown in non-Christian countries and in return give nothing. The choices kind of parasitic existence. It may be regarded as an axiom that you will only get out of life exactly what you are prepared to put into it. It applies to one's work, education and sport. If we put less than our best into these things, we can only expect something less than the best out of them. That certainly applies to Religion. It will not pay any dividend, unless we are prepared to put up the capital. How many people just toy with it, and then wonder why it does not mean more to them. Because the return is less than they think it ought to be, they blame it, and never think of taking themselves to task.

A Moral Decision

In 999 cases out of a thousand, people have no time for religion because it makes a demand upon them. It is not a question of intellectual difficulty, but a moral decision, and they are not prepared to face it. They know that there are certain things in their lives that they cannot keep, if they would follow Christ, and they are sure not prepared to give them up. The bodies they cart around are of more immediate value than their intangible souls. Like Pilate they fall back on dialectic, murmur What after all is truth, and wait not for an answer. One thing is certain, God will not force Himself on anyone's life. We can take His gift of free-will, and throw it back. We can live like animals, but we can't die like them, and it's a mighty comforting thing then to have something to which we can cling, some hope to face the great unknown experience that men call death, and so to have lived that we can face it unafraid.

Secure in her heritage, though perfectly conscious of her imperfections, her shortcomings, even her failures to show God as He is to those who know Him not, the Church of the living Christ stands firm to give the life direct to those who say that religion is dead.

"We shall build on
On through the cynic's scorning,
On through the coward's warning,
On through the cheat's suborning,
We shall build on,
Firm on the rock of ages,
City of saints and sages,
Laugh while the tempest rages,
We shall build on!
Christ, though my hands be bleeding,
Fierce though my flesh be pleading,
Still let me see Thee leading,
Let me build on!
Till through death's cruel dealing,
Brain wrecked and reason reeling,
I hear love's trumpet pealing,
And I pass on!

NEW RECORD GOLD PRICES

London Stock Market Undertone Firm

WAR LOAN MOST POPULAR INVESTMENT

London, Yesterday. There was a further sharp advance of 8 1/2 d yesterday in the price of gold to a new record of 140 1/2 d., but on the stock exchange gold mining shares were almost unaffected.

The undertone of the market firm, but there was little public business. The weakness of sterling in terms of the principal gold currencies did nothing to lessen the firmness of the stock markets in other departments. Continued investment support again led to a general improvement in gilt edged securities, although the price changes were small.

War-loan, at 1/2 per cent., was again the most prominent stock, and the price further advanced 1/2 d. to 104 13/16. German bonds developed a weakness, following Dr. Schacht's speech, and the 7 per cent. Dawes Loan fell four points, to 47, and the 5 1/2 per cent. Young Loan fell 2 1/2 points, to 36.

Home rails were fractionally better, and in the foreign rail market the undertone was firm. Industrial shares remained quiet.—British Wireless Service.

PRIVATE LIFE OF PRINCE GEORGE

cockpit with the pilot. Prince George has not taken the joystick yet, as the Prince of Wales has often done, but he has his own machine—a three-seater—and his own pilot, and flies to many of his public engagements. He has not taken his machine to South Africa, for it is easy for him to obtain one there.

The brothers are nearly always together. Since he was a little fellow, the Prince of Wales has taken Prince George under his wing. He is shy by nature, and quiet, and the Prince of Wales has "brought him out." He it was who coached him in public speaking and indeed in all his public duties. He is constantly bringing him forward: When the Prince of Wales is invited to a public dinner, it is not uncommon for him to say: "Can I bring my brother?" When they were touring South America together, the Prince would constantly say to the prominent people who thronged about him: "Come and see my brother."

Lonely During War
In the early part of the war, a lonely little figure in shorts used to run around the garden at Buckingham Palace in the morning. It was the Prince of Wales keeping himself "A-1" for the part he was always begging the military authorities to let him play at the front. Nowadays, he is accompanied in that sprint round the garden by Prince George. When he is staying with the Prince of Wales at York House, St. James's Palace, where there is no garden, the brothers put greatcoats over their shorts and go over to "Buck House," as they sometimes call Buckingham Palace.

Prince George is so often with the Prince of Wales that people think that he lives with him at York House. That is not so. His home is with the King and Queen at Buckingham Palace. He has his own suite of rooms in the Palace—bedroom, bathroom, and sitting room. When their Majesties are at Windsor or at Sandringham, however, Prince George occupies his room at York House; it is not big enough to give him a suite of rooms.

The eldest and the youngest sons of the King have many tastes in common. They are both musical. The Prince of Wales plays several instruments; he is at present taking lessons from the King's piper on the bagpipes; but Prince George prefers the piano. When he knows people well, he will play for them to dance. He can remember music he has heard, and plays selections from current revenues and musical comedies. No doubt because he has such a good sense of rhythm, he is the best dancer in the Royal Family.

Both the brothers play golf, although the Prince of Wales is the more enthusiastic player. Prince George plays tennis and was pre-

President of the All-England Lawn Tennis Club, Wimbledon, in 1931. Both Princes are fond of riding. Prince George used to spend part of his leave from the navy in learning to ride at the Household Cavalry Riding School at Regent's Park.

He is said to be the most literate of the Royal Family and he describes himself as a "fairly consistent reader of books."

Since Prince George retired from the navy he has been in the civil service. It is a sign of the times that a member of the Royal Family is in a peace service. Always before, the sons of the King have been soldiers or sailors.

Foreign Office Work
Prince George started as a clerk in the Foreign Office, working daily from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. He was in the western department, which is concerned with western European countries and the League of Nations. His object was to gain a knowledge of the administration and work of a Department of State.

That achieved, he was transferred to the Home Office, and for the past two and a half years he has been attached to the factory inspection department.

During that time, he has been inspecting factories all over the country. He is accompanied by the divisional inspector, and Prince George, as often as not, drives the inspector to the factories in his own car. When he is fulfilling public engagements in different parts of the country, he generally manages to inspect some factories at the same time. The workers do not, as a rule, know who the quiet young man is, but they notice that he takes a keen interest in their welfare.

He is taking every means to gain a practical understanding of the working conditions of his countrymen. One morning he will be at Covent Garden in the early hours, acquiring a knowledge of the problems of distribution; another day he is in Somers Town making a tour of reformed dwelling houses. Most recently he has been learning "Afrikaans" so that he can talk to the Dutch farmers of South Africa in their own tongue.

Yet he remains unspoiled. When he travels by Imperial Airways, the pilot says he is "one of the crew" immediately he steps into the machine; if he is in a hurry he takes a taxicab, and it is left to the cab driver's horse whisper to inform the policeman who tells him to get back: "But I've got the Prince inside!"

THE WEATHER OF AUGUST

Maximum And Minimum Temperatures Recorded On Same Day

SUNSHINE DEFICIENT FOR 5TH. SUCCESSIVE MONTH

The mean temperature for the month was 80.6 degrees Fahrenheit, which is 1.1 degrees F. less than the normal for August. This may be explained by a spell of cool cloudy weather from the 16th to the 21st.

The highest temperature reached during the month was 91.5 degrees, and the lowest 72.8 degrees, both recorded on the 8th. It is very unusual for the maximum and minimum temperatures for the month to be recorded on the same day. The 8th had been a very sultry day, until at 7 p.m. a squall passed the Colony, accompanied by a rapid fall in temperature.

The maximum gust recorded during the squall was 57 m.p.h., the highest wind velocity for the month.

The mean relative humidity for the month was 88 per cent., against a normal of 83 per cent. Sunshine was deficient for the fifth successive month, the total recorded being 182 hours, which is 22 hours less than normal.

The total rainfall amounted to 24.36 inches, against a normal of 14.22 inches. Up to mid-night on August 31, the total rainfall for the year was 83.79 inches, as against a normal of 67.29 ins.

(DEDICATED TO "MY DEAR")

I never dreamed rose-coloured dreams,
I never knew affection's name,
I never felt love's blinding beams,
Nor ever played at its quiet game—
But when I saw you in the haze,
Divine! a model fit for art,
And when I met your searching gaze,
Love came and rested in my heart.

A nameless pain, fair one, is mine,
And silent grief now fills my soul,
You never give me anodyne,
You never heed my forlorn call—
When will you ease my woodland flow'r,
When will you ease my heart,
Will it be at the painful hour
When I am dead... forever gone?

JAPAN FORFEITS SINGLES TENNIS MATCHES

Houlgate, Aug. 27. In the international tennis competitions for the Rotary Cup, Japan forfeited the two remaining singles matches, "in the cross-over" against America in Shanghai recently. This forfeiture does not affect the result in any way, as Japan had already been eliminated through the loss of the first matches.

a great deal of help, such as the registration of our Union with the Hong Kong Government. We thank him very heartily for his assistance.

"The preparation Committees comprised of Messrs. Chan Yushan, Luk Kai-leung, Chan Lai-sheng, Kwun Did-chor, Ching Shui-kwai, Lee Shiu Kai, Mo Kwan-to, Leung Chick-fan and Chang Kwok-kwong. They have rendered valuable assistance in the forming of this Association. On behalf of the Union I take this opportunity in thanking Mr. Wong Kwong-tin and all the Committees.

March Formation

"In March this year, the Union was formed and executive committees were elected. The aims and objects of the Union have been stated in the manifesto.

"In my opinion Hong Kong has been a seaport with no manufactured products, and if trouble occurred in any part of the world Hong Kong would suffer the most. Now we are living under a well-protected and peaceful government. All kinds of factories have been established and our products are improving rapidly. In times such as now, I hope that the Colony's Government will aid us in our exporting goods to other British possessions to whom we will give the British Empire Preference."

Dr. Kotewall Speech

Dr. Kotewall, who spoke in Chinese, said that Hong Kong, because of its unique geographical position, is the chief commercial centre in South China. Consequently, many chambers of commerce and commercial guilds have been established here with the common object of promoting trade and commerce, and of mutual help and co-operation. In recent years quite a number of factories have been set up in the Colony, and so it can be said that industry has an important place in the scheme of things here. As in the case of merchants, there is need for an association or union of manufacturers. This need has obviously been recognised by the founders of this Union, who are to be congratulated on the commendable energy and foresight they have shown.

The Union is to be also congratulated on the able and experienced business men they have secured as members of their Committee, he went on.

"A Union of this nature will provide, among other advantages, correct statistics of the ebb and flow of business, and facilities for the exchange of views and ideas, with the object of improving the methods of manufacture, as well as of marketing the productions. Dr. Kotewall said. Thus not only will the factories benefit by the association, but the whole Colony cannot but derive profit from it. There is a common saying: 'A body can only be healthy when all its limbs are healthy.' Our industries form a limb of the general trade and commerce of Hong Kong.

South China "Godown"

Dr. Kotewall went on to say that although Hong Kong enjoyed a unique position as a shipping port, a distributing centre and a "godown" for the South China trade, the development of industries in the Colony should not be neglected. Hong Kong offers special advantages for the establishment of factories, because of its ideal situation in obtaining raw materials, of an inexhaustible supply of labour, and of the security and good government it enjoys. He hoped that those who have money to invest would freely invest it in industries in the Colony, and that the Government should do everything in its power to encourage such investments, and to protect the interests of existing industries.

"It seems that the creation of the Chinese Manufacturers' Union in Hong Kong at this moment is most opportune," he said. It has helped to focus attention on the need for co-operation among manufacturers as well as on the necessity for greater Government protection to local industries in the face of very keen competition. "The Book of History has these words, 'The immovable sea is to be crossed; you are to be the ship to cross it. May it not be hoped that the Union will be one of the vessels that will successfully carry us across the tempestuous sea that is surging around us at this moment!' he concluded.

GOVERNMENT HOUSE SCHEME

Special Fund To Be Created

CITY DEVELOPMENT

The Gazette contains the draft of an Ordinance to make provision for financing and carrying out a scheme for a new Government House and for the development of a portion of the City of Victoria.

It is explained that the Government House and City Development Scheme authorised by this Ordinance is essentially a self-contained unit, which will be proceeded with as circumstances permit.

The scheme involves the sale from time to time of building sites which it is anticipated will yield more than sufficient to pay for the entire undertaking, though it may be necessary at certain stages to obtain advances from the revenues of the Colony.

To pay into the general revenue of the Colony the large sums which have been or will be received from time to time in connection with such land sales would result in apparent fluctuations in the normal revenue of the Colony which it is desirable to avoid.

Departure From Rules

As, however, the proposals that revenue receipts from such land sales should pass into a special fund, instead of to revenue, and that the expenditure on the Scheme should be met from the fund and authorised by resolutions of the Legislative Council involves a departure from the ordinary rules of Colonial accounting, the Secretary of State, in approving the proposal, has required that the Scheme should be conducted under a special Ordinance which would legalise the diversion of the revenue from land sales from general revenue to the fund and would also empower the appropriation of the expenditure on the scheme by resolutions of the Legislative Council.

The next Criminal Sessions will commence at the Supreme Court on Thursday, September 13, at 10 a.m.

BEWARE OF DARK PLACES

Young Couple Given Advice In Court

$200 FINE FOR SENSELESS CHARGES

"Young couples should walk in better lighted thoroughfares at night, as, when they do walk along dark paths, people are apt to suggest scandalous things," was the advice given by Mr. E. W. Hamilton at the Central Magistracy yesterday morning, to a young couple who were the complainants against Ho Man-wai, of No. 18 Sai Street, first floor, a 30-year-old unemployed, who was charged with impersonating the character of a police officer in Oakland Path last Wednesday.

The complainants were Chan Yuk-pui, a student of No. 25 Second Street, second floor, and Au Ying, an 18-year-old spinster, of No. 7 Yee Fuk Street.

Inspector Hourihan stated that while complainants were walking along Oakland Path on Wednesday, accused stopped them, saying that he was a policeman, and asked for tea money.

Immoral Accusations. The next night accused accosted complainants again, but this time he was afraid to ask for money as there was a constable near by. Instead, he went up to the constable and made immoral accusations against the complainants.

"You come up here with a previous police conviction, and make filthy accusations against a young couple without any grounds whatever, I fine you $200, in default six months' hard labour," said the Magistrate in imposing sentence.

HOSPITAL PATIENT'S DEATH LEAP

Leung Fung-chan, of No. 205, Hennessy Road, committed suicide by jumping from the roof of the Young Wah Hospital, Happy Valley, at 12.15 a.m. yesterday. Leung was stated to be a patient in the hospital.

TOOK $50 TO "FREE" PRISONER

Woman Duped In Easy Manner

Li Yau-tsun, a 19-year-old unemployed, was charged before Mr. Q. A. Macfadyen at the Central Magistracy yesterday morning, with obtaining $50 by false pretences from Chu Yuet-ming, a married woman, by pretending that he would secure the release of her husband who is now imprisoned in the Lai Chi Kok prison.

Believing that her husband would be released, complainant handed accused $50 outside the Lai Chi Kok prison on Friday. Accused left complainant for a few minutes and then told her that he had given the money to Mr. J. W. Franks, Superintendent of Prisons, and that her husband would be released. They walked a little way from the gaol, and then accused told complainant to go back to fetch her husband, while he took to his heels.

On the application of Sergeant Gowan the case was remanded for 48 hours.

LARGER NIGHT SILENCE ZONE

Experiment's Success To Be Perfected

London, Yesterday. The success of the night silence zone in London has led the Transport Minister, the Rt. Hon. Mr. Hore Belsham, to extend its operation to all residential areas in Britain.

He made a tour of London on Thursday night and satisfied himself that the experiment was working well. Later he stated that in order that the boon of sleep and rest should be conferred on as many as possible, and in particular that the sick should be freed from the torment of the motor-horn at night, he proposes to issue an order forthwith making every built-up area a silence zone between 11.30 p.m. and 7 a.m.

He added that the experiment had led to the discovery that it was not necessary to drive on a motor-horn. Non-compliance with the order will render the motorist liable to a fine not exceeding 40 shillings.—British Wireless Service.

ADVANTAGES OF KLIM

It is uniform in composition, being the combined milk of many herds.

When liquefied the cream does not rise, thus preserving this uniformity in the fluid state.

It is assuredly free of pathogenic bacteria; therefore it is safe.

When liquefied it has a bacteria count which averages less than 3,000 per c.c. and is equivalent in freshness to fluid milk delivered ONE HOUR after pasteurization.

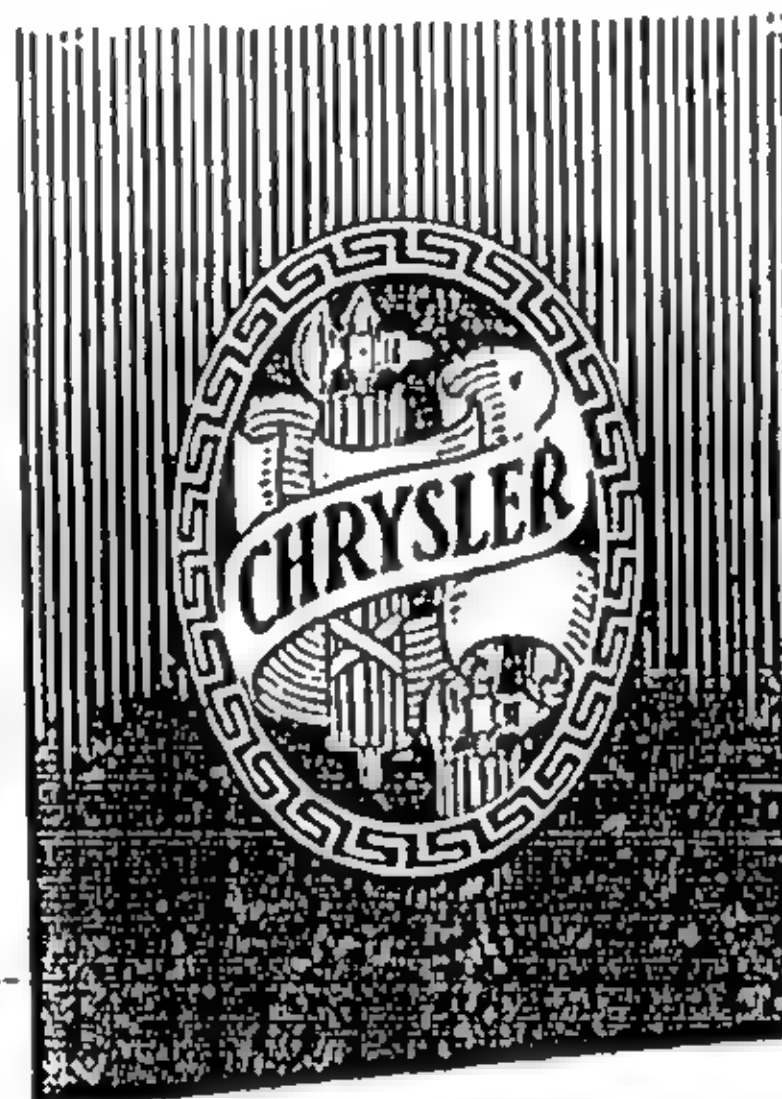

Its finely divided casein precipitates in soft friable curds exposing a much greater surface to digestive action, probably resulting in more complete assimilation. In this respect it resembles breast milk.

The smaller fat globules remain in even emulsion averting irregularities in the formula and in the feeding itself. Further a greater surface is exposed to the action of the digestive juices.

AGAIN CHRYSLER revolutionizes the motor car

Chrysler in creating these revolutionary Airflow models broke the shackles of convention and tradition—the result is an entirely new type of motor car. Six passenger capacity with an entirely new type of luxurious and commodious interiors is an accomplished fact, and with them comes the comfort that until now has never been known outside of the drawing room. Now the passengers are cradled between the axles in relaxed comfort. They ride within the frame, not over it, with a new sense of security and safety. They ride as relaxed and as comfortably as on the finest passenger trains. They ride with that smoothness and effortless which the traveler finds so thrilling in an airplane. They ride in a revolutionary motor car—The Airflow Chrysler.

U.S. TREASURY REASSURES BOND MARKET

The announcement followed orders from the Treasury Secretary, Mr. Henry Morgenthau, after a long afternoon conference with President Roosevelt and the Under-Secretary of the Treasury Department, Mr. Collidge, at Hyde Park, yesterday, on the general financial situation.

It is announced that U.S.$624,700,000 worth of 1½ per cent Treasury certificates maturing on September 15, and U.S.$1,200,000,000 worth of Fourth Liberty Bonds maturing on October 15, totalling U.S.$1,724,700,000, are therefore refundable with a new issue of securities to be announced on September 10.

Little difficulty in re-financing the new maturities is expected. It is believed that the Government will possibly be able to re-finance at lower interest rates, thus effecting a substantial saving.—United Press per S. E. Levy and Company.

In country of this nature the small prospector is most favoured, obtaining his gold from the sand and gravel of river beds with the tin washing dish.

REEF GOLD IN YAN PING

At Tai To Po Shan, in the Yan Ping District, where the rush originated some six or seven weeks ago, the mineral is found mostly in lode, or reef, form.

Gold of this type is not, as favourable to the small prospector as the alluvial deposit, the necessity of sinking shafts, installing a battery, crushing and cyaniding plant making it too costly for any but a fairly wealthy concern, although deposits of this nature are usually larger than alluvial beds, and will give a better return for the capital invested.

It would be difficult to judge from the brief geological reports whether the metal is in large quantities, for, without an extensive diamond drilling campaign the most experienced geologist is likely to falter when prospecting for gold.

Veteran prospectors are the readiest to admit that surface indications are most deceptive when seeking gold. "Gold is where you find it" being one of the maxims of the game.

MANY PROSPECTORS

The natives of the districts in which the finds have been made are stated to be prosperous, and not averse to outsiders working the fields. The majority of the natives have, at some time or another, been overlanders, and have returned quite comfortably off.

According to reports there are large numbers of individual prospectors, and, in some cases, small companies. The majority of these companies, however, are doomed before they start, having insufficient capital to exploit their finds.

It is quite likely that if the field proves to be very wealthy, some two or three large companies will take it over and work it thoroughly, as has been the case in Africa, America, Australia, New Guinea, New Zealand, and other rich gold-bearing countries.

ALLUVIAL GOLD

Alluvial gold is of purely secondary origin, having usually been released in the first place from the main lode or primary deposit. It is usually found in river beds, or places where there has at some time been water. It is often considered of minor importance, although, in some few places, such as Bulolo, New Guinea, it has been found in very large deposits.

Alluvial gold is frequently used to trace the main lode, the prospector working up a stream bed, finding a "colour" here and there, until he reaches country which gives an indication of the original lode from which his various small finds have emanated.

Reef gold is rarely found by itself, more often than not being mingled with various other metals, the most frequent being copper. Granitic areas frequently carry gold, although quartz, usually of a ruddy tint, is the main gold bearing rock.

MARGINAL SPECULATION SUPERVISION

The draft details at great length how margin accounts may be continued after the original extension of credit, and this is being vigorously criticised by brokers, who feel that the board is attempting to go so far that brokers might be required to double the number of their employees in order to deal with the new conditions which are likely to arise.

Brokers are also concerned in case these new rules should further decrease the liquidity of the market.—Reuter.

U.S. CAR WORKERS DEMAND SCRAPPING OF CODE

KOWLOON C.C. OPEN AIR CONCERTSharp Shower Does Not Spoil Performance*"IN A MONASTERY GARDEN" OUTSTANDING ITEM

A sharp shower during the first few minutes of the performance did not mar the Open Air Band Concert given at the Kowloon Cricket Club last evening, although it kept down the attendance. Over 200, however, enjoyed one of the best programmes given in the Colony this season.

The band of the 1st Bn Lincolnshire Regiment, by kind permission of Major J. A. A. Griffin D. S. O. and Officers, gave a long and varied programme, the rendering of Ketelbey's Intermezzo, "In a Monastery Garden" being received with unbounded enthusiasm by the audience. It was perhaps the outstanding number of the evening, although the fantasia "A Voyage in a Troopship" by Miller, received rounds of applause from those who enjoy rollicking sea-music.

Various light numbers, including the favourite dance number of a decade ago, "A Policeman's Holiday," and the haunting Spanish strains of "La Palmona," were well received.

COMMUNISTS RETREATING TO SZECHUEN

General Pai Hsueh-hsi, one of the leading Kwangsi war chiefs, is inspecting the defence works in Southern Kiangsi in order to prevent any invasion of Kwangtung by the Communists or other hostile forces. His departure from Canton was very sudden.

In South-western Fukien, the Reds have made sporadic raids on the Cantonese lines held by the First Independent Division. In each raid the invaders are said to have been repulsed.

Despite the presence of Communists along the borders of Kwangtung from Fukien to Hunan, it seems unlikely that the outlaws will make further attempts to enter this province, which is well guarded by troops and fortifications. Precautions,

MAY MEET 2 YACHTS

FIFTEENTH CHALLENGER

Mr. T. O. M. Sopwith's centre-board, steel-built cutter yacht will be the fifteenth challenger for the America's Cup.

The trophy, won by the schooner America in 1851, has never been recovered. It was first challenged for in 1870 and 1871 by the English schooners Cambria and Livonia. The next two attempts were by Canadian yachts. Then followed, in 1885 and 1886, the challenges of the narrow English cutters Genesta and Galatia. The Scottish cutter Thistle tried in 1887.

The fourth Earl of Dunraven made two efforts in 1893 and 1895 with his Valkyries, and finally, from 1899 until 1930, Sir Thomas Lipton tried five times to win the Cup with his Shamrocks.

It cannot be said that British yachts have shown much likelihood of beating the Americans. The single case when Sir William Burton steered Shamrock IV, in 1920 was the sole exception.

MR. SOPWITH AT THE HELM Mr. Sopwith will steer his cutter in the contest for the best out of seven. He is the only English owner who has ever steered his own yacht in a race for the America's Cup. It is probable that the new vessel will make a very close race with the Americans. The rules preclude there being any very surprising or outstanding difference between the challenger and the defender in hull form or rig.

The Endeavour is Mr. Charles Nicholson's third Cup challenger, and he has had great experience of designing big cutter yachts, having built Nyria, Astra, Candida, Shamrock IV., Shamrock V., and last year Velsheda for Mr. W. L. Stephenson.

N.G.M. OFFICIALS STILL MISSING No news has yet been received of the two employees of the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer film organisation, Mr. E. F. Johnson, a Dane, manager of the Osaka office, and Mr. R. Lury, an American, who is the Manchukuo representative, who were kidnapped when bandits wrecked a passenger train bound from Harbin to Changchun, yesterday.—Reuter.

Probe In Kwangtung Finances

The object of his mission is not clearly known. One report states that he came to Canton to investigate the financial conditions of this province following the abolition of several miscellaneous gambling taxes. Another statement has it that the Ministry of Finance wishes to reclaim national revenues collected in Kwangtung.

Still another report states that Mr. Li is now in Hong Kong in connection with the establishment of Chinese customs administration there in order to prevent smuggling in this part of the province. It is an open secret that the Nanking authorities are much embarrassed by the decreasing customs revenues in Kwangtung on account of excessive smuggling, and believe that the best way to check the smuggling is by establishing customs office in Hong Kong.

No case of a notifiable disease was reported in the Colony during the 24 hours ended August 31.

yet stubbornly. His sense of justice—that inevitable sense of justice in a Chinese—had also been roused. "The god was taking up the middle of the road, when he, the poor farmer, was carrying the load." Surely, being a god, he knew the terrible sacrifices his poor supplicant was making? As the months went by, Lum Lo began to lose some of his fear of the idol, through familiarity, but, still more, through the sense of injustice that was coming upon him.

Now suddenly everything went right. The rain and the sun came at the proper times, and destructive insects seemed to have disappeared from the face of the earth. With half the labour, Lum Lo reaped twice the crop. And the labour of his free hours also bore abundant fruit. His cabbages were fat, green and luscious, and there were now a hundred chickens before the house; whereas even his mother had never owned half so many.

Without a family to feed, Lum Lo dug sixty dollars into the good earth after laying in everything for the next season's growing. That was a good deal, after all, a just god. Never having refused the offerings, he had given proper return.

As Lum Lo sowed the next spring, and it went on shining. Summer came, and the sun still shone. A month before the harvest, the fields were parched. All day and far into the night Lum Lo drew water from the river that had become a trickle and carried it up the six hundred feet. Two buckets at a time, slung across his shoulders. What were buckets for seven fields in a drought? But it was better to do this than to sit down and do nothing. Day after day, and far into the night, Lum Lo watered his fields with the buckets. Even his horn-covered feet had cracked. His back ached so that cries were wrung from him every time he stumbled in the dark, but he toiled on. He toiled on though twice he had fallen in a dizzy faint and spilled the precious water where no rice was struggling to keep alive. The more he ached the more frantic became his battle with the withering sun.

Several times a day he examined the sickly yellow tufts. Four more days he gave the crop. Still no sign of rain. That day was the first of the month, that day the wine and roast pork were due the god. Lum Lo fingered a silver dollar as he looked up at his dying fields. It would take three hours to get the offerings on his cracked and swollen feet. How many buckets could the carry in three hours? Perhaps eight, perhaps ten.

He set off for the village. How foolish even to have hesitated. For two years he had not missed a single sacrifice. How foolish to stop now when he was most in need. But as he limped on, bruised in body and spirit, freed for a while from the sight of his gaping fields, the old battle broke out afresh in him.

But his peasant stubbornness won, and he bought the pork and wine.

When he had put up the offerings he stood looking at the god. Rebelliously. Forgetting that he had still to get firewood for that night's supper, although the chopper was held in his hand.

Suddenly a wall floated over his parched fields. Then Lum Lo beat his chest. He had added up all the money he had spent on the idol. He had done that before, more than once, but the figure had never taken on such meaning. Again he beat his chest. The great, the mad, sum could start him afresh next year even if the present crop was totally destroyed.

Lum Lo walked again like an animal in pain, wounded to the very depths of his peasant soul. He looked out at the cruel sky, his eyes glowing like lamps. He looked at the setting sun, the shameless sun, and he cursed it. Then he laughed, and the laugh was more uncanny than the wail. A god indeed! A god, indeed! Giving promises just to rob a poor farmer! Worse than just a useless god, the idol was a cheat and a thief! He would settle accounts with one even more heartless than the soldiers!

"Idiot!" He spat at the idol. "Cheat!" He spat again. "Thief!" He spat yet again. "Now strike me dead if you are a god. Go on, strike me dead! I defy you! Go on! I am waiting. You can do nothing. But I can!"

With that, Lum Lo sprang at the idol and lifted the chopper in his hand. The very first blow split his head open. He rent it in two with the next. Seized with the mania of destruction, Lum Lo hacked at the image until the pieces flew in all directions.

"Take that! Take that, you cheat, you thief! and that!"

He stood up and surveyed what he had done, wiping the sweat from his eyes. He put up his head and laughed, more uncannily than he had wailed.

"And once I was afraid of you! Afraid of you! I tell you what I'll do with you. I want firewood for my supper to-night. You'll be my firewood! You'll boil my rice for me!"

Spitting at the pieces, he swept them together into a heap with his feet. Then he tied them into a bundle with his girdle.

"Thirty-two dollars! Firewood! Firewood!" Hysterically he laughed as he swung the demolished god on to his shoulder.

As he straightened himself, the horror of his sacrilege rushed upon the superstitious peasant. The sun had set, and the swift Eastern dusk made the dark hutch seem darker. The straw walls, touched by the swirling breeze, took on strange shapes. He felt the evil spirits peeping the air-brushing against his cold skin. Blood-curdling tales, part of the very soil of China, of retribution by angered gods came back to him.

All his primitive peasant terror of the supernatural had seized Lum Lo. Any instant he expected the bundle on his shoulder to come to life and strike him dead.

He heard a pitter-pattering on the iron ground outside.

Rain, drops!

A sign from the god! He had been too hasty! His ingratitude made revenge doubly certain!

Then he heard footsteps approaching.

No one ever passed his way, not even his neighbour. But the unseen footsteps were coming nearer and nearer, making for the front entrance.

With a desperate effort Lum Lo freed his petrified limbs and tiptoed out of the back entrance, still holding bundle and chopper.

The footsteps went into the hutch.

He heard a gasp. Then there was a low chuckle.

Was it possible? Then unmistakably he heard the wine being poured into a bottle.

Lum Lo put his head into the hutch. The truth dawned on him. He gave a howl of rage and rushed in. The thief sprang back. The chopper split open the neighbour's head.

One day in the winter digging, Lum Lo's three sons brought back a bulging sack from the top field. "Father, a skeleton! Look at the skull!" They tipped out the white bones and a broken skull, curiously at each other.

Lum Lo threw up his head and laughed. "They are the bones and skull of a god. Put them under

DUKE'S SON, NOT FOR FOREIGN LEGION

Changes Mind At Last Minute.

After flying to Dunkirk with the reported intention of joining the French Foreign Legion, Lord Edward Montagu, the second son of the Duke of Manchester, changed his mind, and left immediately, for England again by steamer. Lord Edward was accompanied by a party of friends, whom he called to his room in a Dunkirk hotel at two o'clock in the morning to announce that he would not engage for five years' service in Africa with the famous Foreign Legion.

A quarter of an hour later the whole party boarded a steamer which was sailing from Dunkirk for Folkestone.

ENGLAND STILL LEADS

"Greatest Country In World"

"England is still the greatest country in the world, and the soundness of Canada is due to her heritage of British ideas," said the Canadian High Commissioner in London, Mr. Howard Ferguson, who arrived recently at Quebec on a holiday trip.

He added: "The English are the most remarkable, resourceful, and capable people in the world. England tackled the post-war problems by building her financial structure on sound foundations, but not from the top, as was the case in some countries."

APE POURS TEA FOR ZOO VISITORS

China Cups And Glasses Only Tolerated

The busiest waitress in Moscow these summer days is a seven-year-old anthropoid ape.

She is Frina, star attraction of the Moscow Zoo, an orange-outang specially trained to pour out cups of tea for visitors.

Up to July 1 Zoo officials estimated she had poured tea for more than 1,000,000 customers.

Frina serves tea only in china cups and glasses. When she is handed a tin cup she throws it on the floor.

the rice pot. We need ash for the fields.

"The bones of a god?"

"An evil god," their mother replied. "He tried to stop you all from coming into the world."

Lum Lo's sons spat on the bones and threw them joyously into the fire.

MORRIS CARS USED IN SIAM REVOLUTION

Hauled Field Artillery Into Position.

Morris vehicles played conspicuous parts in overcoming the recent revolution in Siam, according to advice just received from Messrs. Barrow, Brown and Co., Ltd. of Bangkok. Morris-Commercial six-wheelers were employed by the government for the transport of troops and ammunition, and for the hauling of heavy artillery to the scene of operations.

H.M. the King of Siam has recently taken delivery of two Morris-Commercial six-wheelers for use at his summer resort at Hua Hin. One vehicle was fitted with a special body for shooting trips.

The Royal motor garage possesses four Morris-Oxford models for use in Bangkok, while many important army officers including the State Councillor for Defence and the Chief of the General Staff Military Operations section are owners of further Morris cars.

WOMEN NOW BEST DRIVERS.

Mr. Godfrey Davis's Experience.

After over five years' experience in dealing with every type of driver, Mr. Godfrey Davis, the head of the biggest hire-car service in London, has proved that women are safer drivers than men.

For each hundred thousand hires made to men and a corresponding number to women, 800 accidents are due to women, and 1,000 to men. A woman is, therefore, a twenty per cent. better risk than a man.

"This dispenses of the fallacy that women are bad drivers," said Mr. Davis. "Probably the chief reason why women are safer on the road than men is because they do not generally indulge in excessive speed."

"Most women have less self-confidence than men, and this proves a valuable safety device leading them to drive especially carefully."

MOTORING NOTES

OLDEST TRAMWAY TO STOP RUNNING

Concern Falls On Evil Days

The State of Guernsey decided recently, according to "Motor Transport," to take over the permanent tramway and fixtures, and to cancel the concession granted in 1877 to the Guernsey Railway Co.

This concern, which was the first in the British Isles to install electric trams has fallen on evil days, due, it is said, to the competition of motor transport. It will now devote its energies to its fleet of buses. The tram track is to be removed and the roads restored to the State, the cost to be refunded to them by the company over a period of twenty years.

NEW ZEPPELIN NOW UNDER WAY

Cars By Air?

An indication of the terrific size of the new Zeppelin, L.Z. 129, now under construction in Germany, is given by the fact that it will probably be possible to store cars in the freight room at the bottom of its hull.

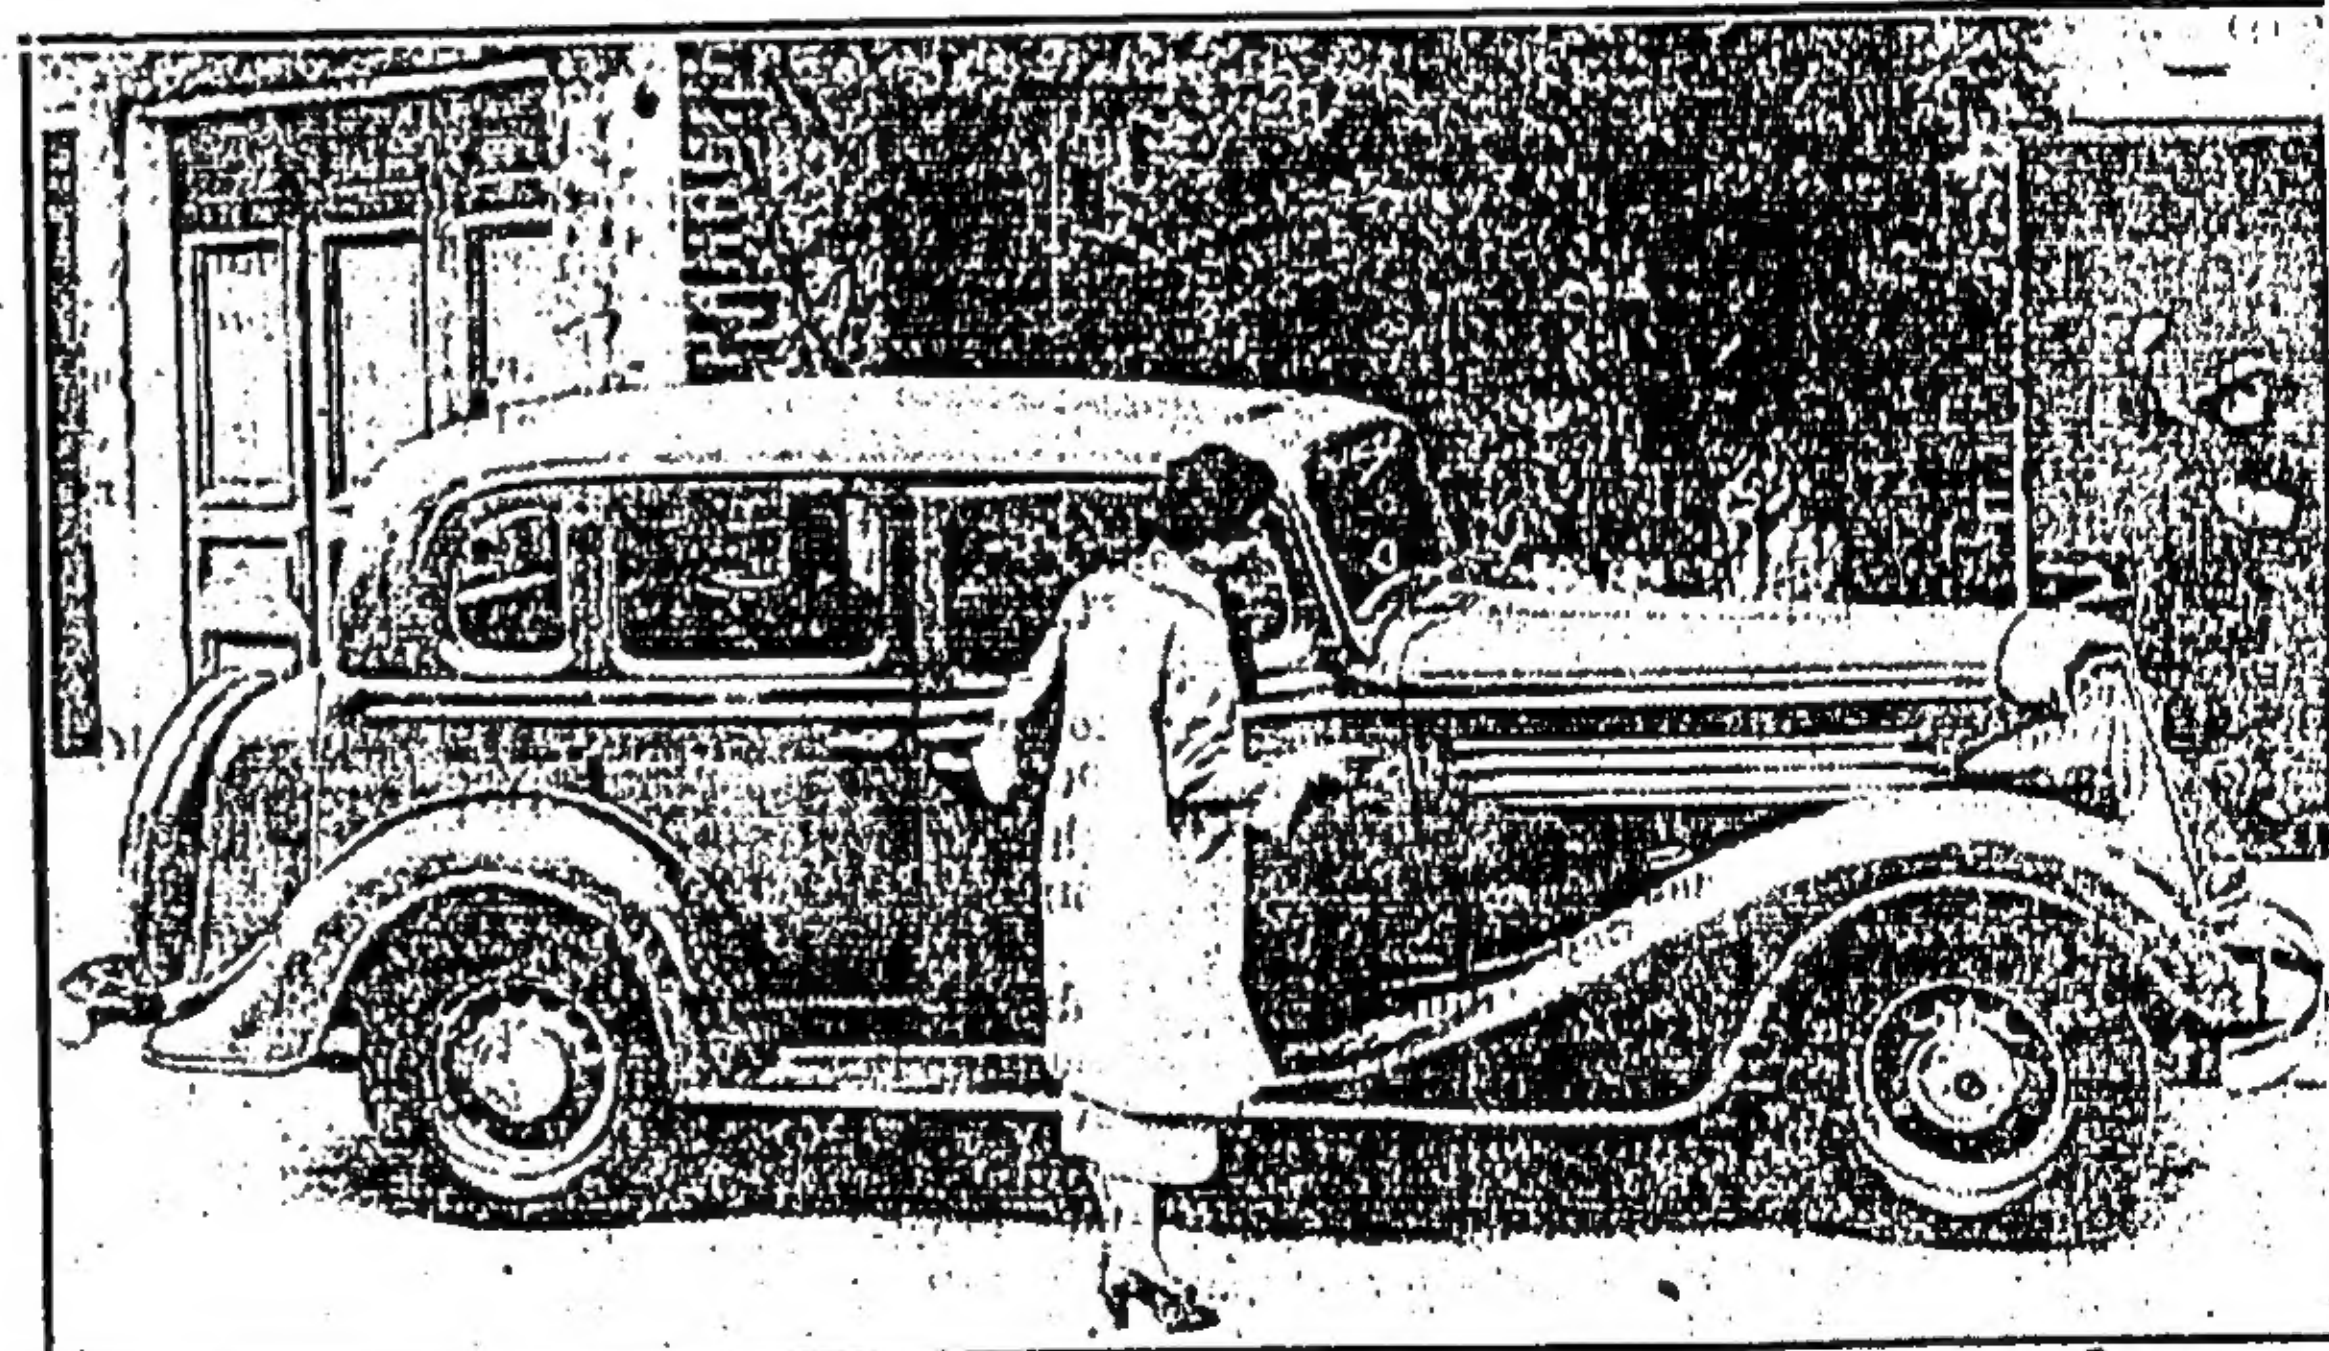

The length is 813ft., or 271 yards; and the greatest width 133ft. The four engines are 1,000 h.p. Maybach Diesels. Passenger accommodation includes 25 state rooms, each equipped with running hot and cold water, large promenade decks, and a smoking room.

(By LADY RHODES)

When the player of a No Trump contract has only a single guard in the suit opened, it is generally prudent to refuse to win the first two or three leads. This play is known as "Holding-Up" and its object is, of course, to exhaust the leader's partner's hand of that suit, so that if she gets in later on in the play, she will have none of its to return.

Like all other rules and maxims, however, it is not invariable. Sometimes it is the obvious thing to do. For instance, North is playing 3 No Trumps; her hand and dummy's are:

North	South
S—K 8 6 3	S—A 9 4
H—A 10 3	H—6 5
D—10 7 2	D—K Q J 6 4
C—A K 8	C—Q 7 2

East opens with a small heart and West plays the Knave. Here North can see that in order to make '9 tricks' she will have to establish her diamonds, having only six tricks in the other suits. She should, therefore, refrain from taking the hearts till the third round, hoping that the Diamond Ace is in West's hand. Whether she can get her contract or not is a matter of chance.

If East happens to hold five or more hearts, with the Ace of Diamonds, the declarer must be down one or more tricks. If, however, that card is with West, she must get her contract. If West happens to hold four hearts, East can only have four, and if West can return a heart, there are only three tricks for the opponents to make in that suit.

On the other hand, in this example of a 3 No Trump contract, the situation is different:

North	South
S—A Q 8	S—K J 2
H—A 10 3	H—9 4
D—A Q 9 6 3	D—J 10 4
C—5 3	C—A 9 7 4 2

East again opens with a small heart, and West plays the Knave. Here the declarer can see that she will have to establish her diamonds in order to make the necessary nine tricks. If East happens to hold the King and has led from five or more hearts, she cannot do this, however long she holds up the Ace of Hearts. She may, therefore, just as well win the first lead in hearts as not, and then enter dummy with a spade and lead and finesse the Knave of diamonds. If West holds the King, the contract will be made; if, on the other hand, the King is with East, the contract will be defeated unless East happens to hold only four hearts.

A Dangerous Delay
Sometimes this holding-up is not only useless but dangerous. Here is an example which occurred in play some time ago. North was playing a contract of 2 No Trumps. Her hand and her partner's were:

North	South
S—A 10 5	S—9 8 4
H—K 8	H—7 6
D—7 6 3	D—A K Q 5 2
C—A Q 9 7 2	C—J 10 5

East opened with the 3 of spades. West played the Knave, and the declarer refused the trick. West returned the Queen of Hearts, declarer played the King, which East took with the Ace, and the contract was defeated with the loss of five tricks in hearts and one in spades. The opponents' hands were:

East	West
S—K Q 7 3 2	S—J 6
H—A 9 4 3	H—Q J 10 5 2
D—8	D—J 10 9 4
C—8 5 4	C—K 8

North, in view of the perilous position of her King of Hearts, should have taken the first spade trick. She can see a probable five tricks in diamonds with one in spades, and either two clubs or one club and the King of Hearts led up to. In playing the hand, when she found that the diamonds would not run off, she should have made the Ace, King, Queen in dummy and then led the Knave of Clubs and finessed.

The Opening Lead

East's opening lead of the 3 of spades showed that she was not

STORKS DEFEAT VULTURES

Fierce Pitched Battle Over Stream

THOUSANDS ENGAGED

Thousands of storks and vultures are engaged in a desperate war over the Altinova Plain, near Bergamo, Anatolia—and the storks are reported to be winning.

This is how the "war" began: The Turkish Ministry of Health ordered the local authorities to water the banks of a mosquito-infested stream with a chemical to get rid of the pest.

Two storks afterwards alighted near the stream, drank, were poisoned—and died.

At once two vultures swooped down and began to eat them. A dozen other storks seeing what was happening, attacked and killed the vultures.

Best Of The Day

Half an hour later hundreds of vultures appeared, killed some of the storks and drove off the rest.

But, according to an eye-witness, the storks had the best of the day. Two of them flew off for reinforcements and returned with thousands of their tribe to launch a terrific attack on the vultures. After ferocious fighting the vultures took to headlong flight, and the storks are now in possession of the battlefield.

WOMAN "SENDS HER LOVE" WITH FINE

Public Enemy No. 1.

A woman motorist fined £2 at Willenden Police Court forwarded the amount of the fine to the clerk with the following covering note:

"Two pounds herewith with love and good wishes. From yours, Baby Pat, Public Enemy No. 1."

P. S.—I hope you will spend it wisely and not too well.

HAILSTONES WEIGH ONE POUND

A miller named Stjepan Korunick rushed out of doors to unharness his horses during a hailstorm near Tehakovetz.

He was knocked senseless by hailstones weighing 1lb. each, and died shortly afterwards.

WHY THE EARTH IS ROUND

What proof is there that the world is round?

When you stand on the shore on a clear day you see the sails of a ship "come up over the horizon," and this happens wherever you are on the earth and in whatever direction you look.

The shadow thrown by the earth on the moon in an eclipse is round. All the other planets are round, for as a soft body spins it tends to spin itself into a globe.

HEAVY DECREASE IN FOREIGN COTTON RAIL TRAFFIC

Sterling Uncertainty Worries Wall Street

AUTOMOBILE CODE RENEWAL BRIGHT FACTOR

SPECIAL TO SUNDAY HERALD.
(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894, Received September 1, 10.17 a.m.)
New York, Yesterday.
Major indices continue discouraging on the New York Market. Rail traffic is below that of a year ago, while heavy industries' production is comparatively meagre.

Steel production last week was 19.1 per cent. of capacity, approximating the lowest level since the 1933 bank holiday.

So far, the automobile industry has given no indication of large steel purchases for new models, although the demand, at the end of September, is expected to improve.

Favourable factors to-day include the fact that the prospect of a renewal of the Codes in the automobile industry and the oil industry are poor, and the expected purchase of 1,600,000 barrels of emergency gasoline in September.

The petroleum industry outlook, however, is uncertain, unless the authorities succeed in curbing crude oil illegally produced above the quotas.

The outstanding unfavourable factors are the possibility of an extension of the textile strike and the adverse effect on industry generally, also the continued uncertainty of sterling.—United Press, per S. E. Levy and Company.

NO MANCHURIA BALE ESTIMATE

SPECIAL TO SUNDAY HERALD.
(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894, Received September 1, 2.02 p.m.)

Washington, Yesterday.
The United States Department of Agriculture estimates the world supply of American cotton during the season beginning August 1, at 20,000,000 bales, a decrease of 4,600,000 bales from last season, provided the present crop does not exceed 9,195,000 bales.

The estimate on August 1, however, estimated that foreign crops had increased as follows:
China, 200,000 bales.
Brazil, 753,000 bales.
Manchuria, 15 per cent., no bale estimate given.
Russia, Egypt, Mexico and India, however, are estimated to have smaller crops.

It is estimated that world production for the past season was 26,100,000 bales, each of which weight 478 pounds, showing an increase of 600,000 bales over the previous estimate.

It is reported that domestic sales of cotton textiles in the United States increased late in August, improving the situation, but stocks continue large with few unfilled orders.—United Press, per S. E. Levy and Company.

Mr. Henry Morgenthau's announcement offering to convert U.S.$1,700,000,000 worth of maturing Government securities on September 15, is regarded as constructive and non-inflationary.—United Press, per S. E. Levy and Company.
